spirit: sparkplug for success

With the great teams at WHS, fans found it easy to support the Warriors with an abundance of spirit and enthusiasm. Spirit reached its peak around sectional time as walls and window were covered with signs, and cowbells and cheers filled the halls. The traditional caravan again made its way to the sectional along with an enthusiastic group of boys who showed their spirit by dribbling a basketball to Warsaw. Once there, we let it be known that WE'RE FROM WAWASEE!

christmas carol banquet: festive

Fruit cake and woodchoppers were part of this year's Christmas Carol Banquet. The choirs, orchestra and Future Homemakers hosted a capacity crowd both nights of the performances. A tree was decorated with red bows and popcorn strings as the Concert Choir sang the old German carol, Oh Tannenbaum. The audience enjoyed a typical Bavarian meal while students performed dances and musical selections in the German-Swiss tradition.

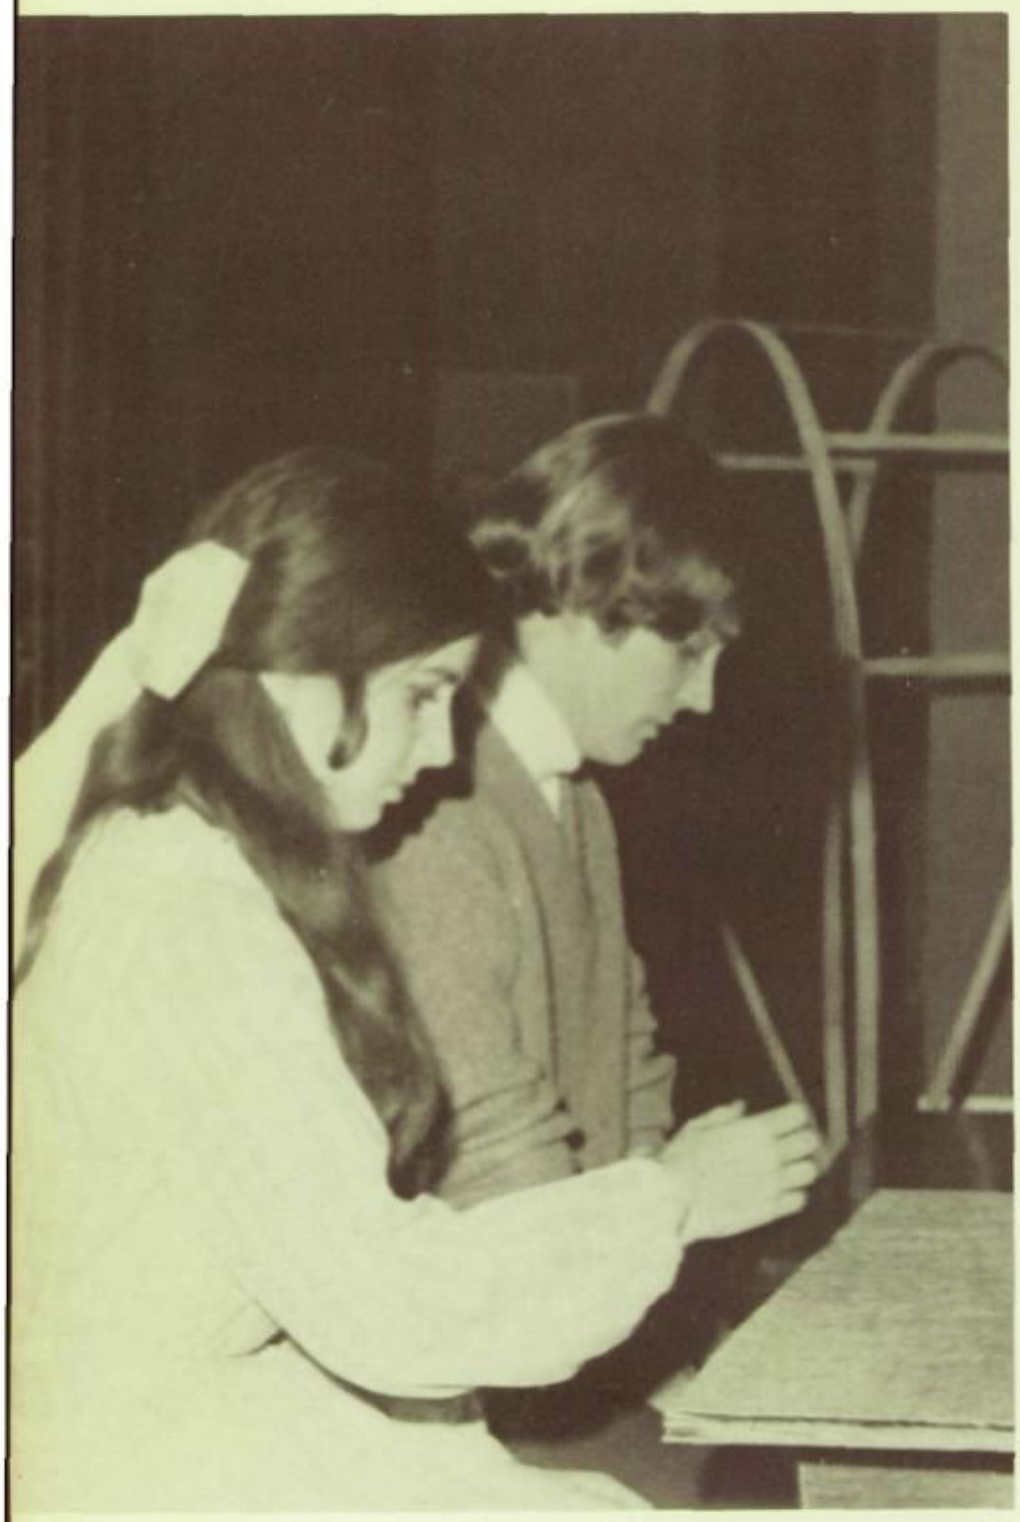
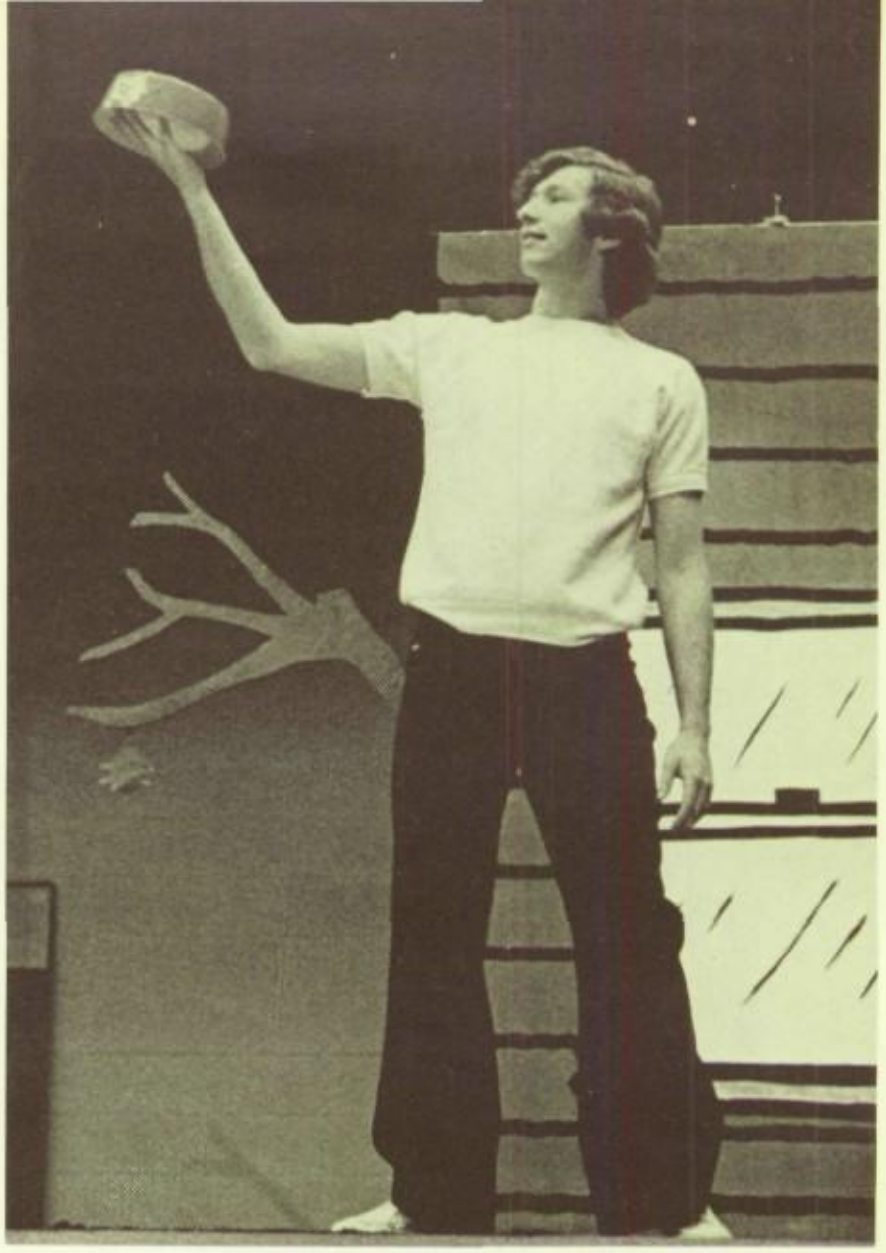
convocations: musical variety



drama: wilder and schultz

"Our Town" by Thornton Wilder, opened in the fall as the first senior class play ever to be presented at WHS. Highlighted by the superb acting of Connie Plank, the play was received with remarkable enthusiasm. "Our Town" was especially memorable to the younger members of the audience and cast because of its special message to those who are "growing up".



In contrast to the dramatic Senior class play, the drama club production was a light hearted comedy. Alan Zerkle organized the hours of practice needed to prepare two casts for opening night of "You're a Good Man Charlie Brown". The cast presented outstanding musical numbers such as Snoopy's "Supper Time" and Linus' "Blanket Song". The cast established a first at W.H.S. when they performed on request for West Noble High and Lakeland Junior High students.

fling: w.h.s. welcomes summer

Our spring fling was for taking a break from the monotany of school and study. It was a time to stuff ourselves with marshmellows, jump around in sacks, wrestle, run, fall, and laugh at ourselves and our friends. Spring fling was a time when those of us who are becoming adult can relax and act like kids again.

prom: paradise at twilight

We decorated and planned and worried and waited. And when May 6th finally arrived, it was OUR prom at OUR school. Maybe it rained a bit, but who noticed? Everyone was busy laughing, dancing and looking beautiful. We'll all remember it, not for the same reasons, not in the same way. Because it was OUR night, we'll not forget Prom '72.

guidance: defines our goals

JoAnn Rassi seeks advice from Mr. Jack Marlette in the scheduling of next year's classes.

The Guidance Department was composed of three counselors. Each director listened to and advised students on ways of reaching each individuals particular goals. This was accomplished through either general, vocational, or academic preparatory classroom scheduling. Vocational job placement was available to all students.

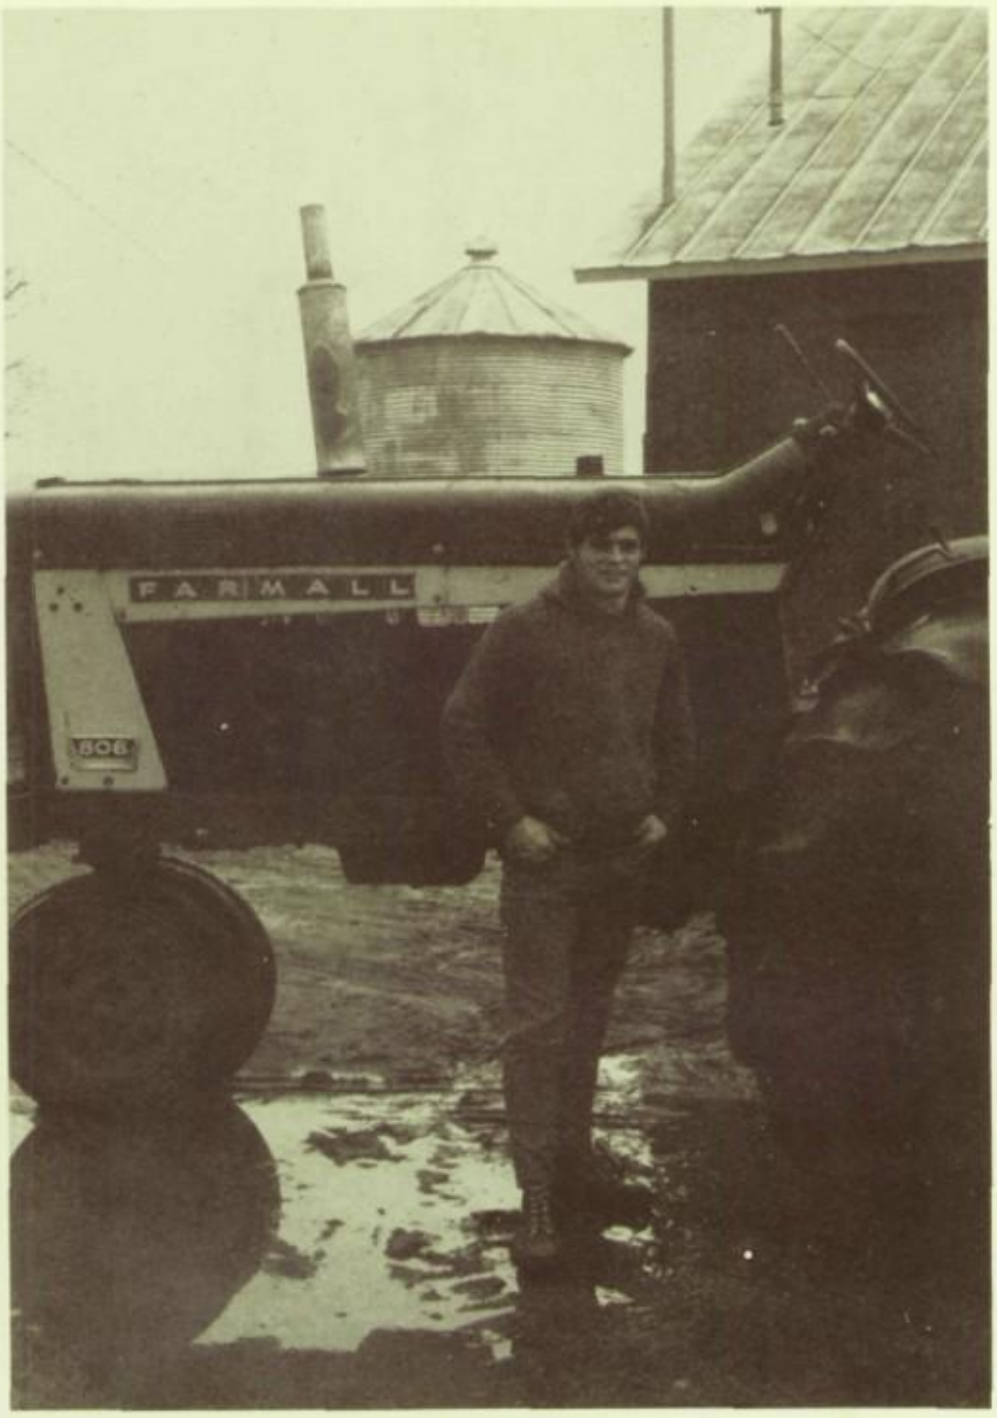
Guidance counselors were: Jack Marlette, B.A., Kalamazoo, M.A., Michigan State; David L. McGrew, B.S., Indiana State, M.S., Indiana; Maxine J. Robinson, B.S., M.S., Ball State.

Secretaries: Betty Haines, Jackie Kuilema, Evelyn Fawley, Dorothy Jones, Ester Rider, Coleen Bryant, Arlene Dellinger, Janet Elam. Vera Hall, and Norma Schacht.

agriculture: tries new techniques

Vocational Agriculture students were given the opportunity to develop diverse skills which would result in better farm management. This was accomplished through a combination of classroom work and projects completed at the homes of various individuals.

The instructor was: Ed Washler, B.S., Purdue.



Senior Fred Beer works mornings on his parent's farm as part of a co-operative program for agriculture.

art: creates an awareness

This year, the Art Department provided students the opportunity to express their artistic abilities through oil paintings, water colors, charcoal sketches, pottery, crocheting and woodworking. A variety of these works were displayed around the school and at the annual Spring Art Festival.

The instructors were: Dorothy Jones, teachers-aide; Joy Warner, B.F.A., Syracuse, M.A., St. Francis.

Senior Randy Graber trys his hand at pottery in Art IV.

The Cadet and Concert Bands performed in several concerts and convocations. The highlight was the Music Festival on March 17. The two bands formulated the Marching Band and performed at five halftime shows during the football season.

The Orchestra was composed of sixteen members. Each year it has become increasingly better under the direction of Miss Cork and Mr. Chance. Both bands and the orchestra excelled in district and state music contests. Instructors were: Varner M. Chance, B.A., M.A., Butler; Pauline Cork, B.S., Indiana State; Joseph Judkins, A.B., Hanover, Indiana.

Susan Brown and Kay Waldbeser form a duet in Concert Band.

The percussion section of the Concert Band keeps in time with Mr. Judkins.

Women's Choir

Four fine public appearances were made by the three choirs this year; the highlight being the Christmas Carol Banquet. The choirs were directed by Varner Chance, who also serves as Music Department co-ordinator. He holds a B.A. and M.A. from Butler University.

A good sound requires total concentration from all.

business: studies the system

In the Business Department, students perfected a variety of skills on such machines as the electric typewriters, various adding and calculating machines, the mimeograph and the duplicator. Knowledge was gained in general business and personal financial management. Students planning to be secretaries took the three period education laboratory.

A thorough education in business gives students the needed skills to pursue a career in commerce.

Instructors were: Elaine S. Hibschman, B.S., Manchester, M.S., Saint Francis; Patricia Huber, Indiana State, M.S., Indiana; David L. McGrew, B.S., Indiana State, M.S., Indiana; Jerry D. Minton, B.S., Manchester, M.A., Ball State; Eldon Ummel, B.S., Manchester, M.S., Indiana.

Mrs. Patricia Huber lectures Office Lab students on the use of the stenocord, a machine used for the dictation of letters.

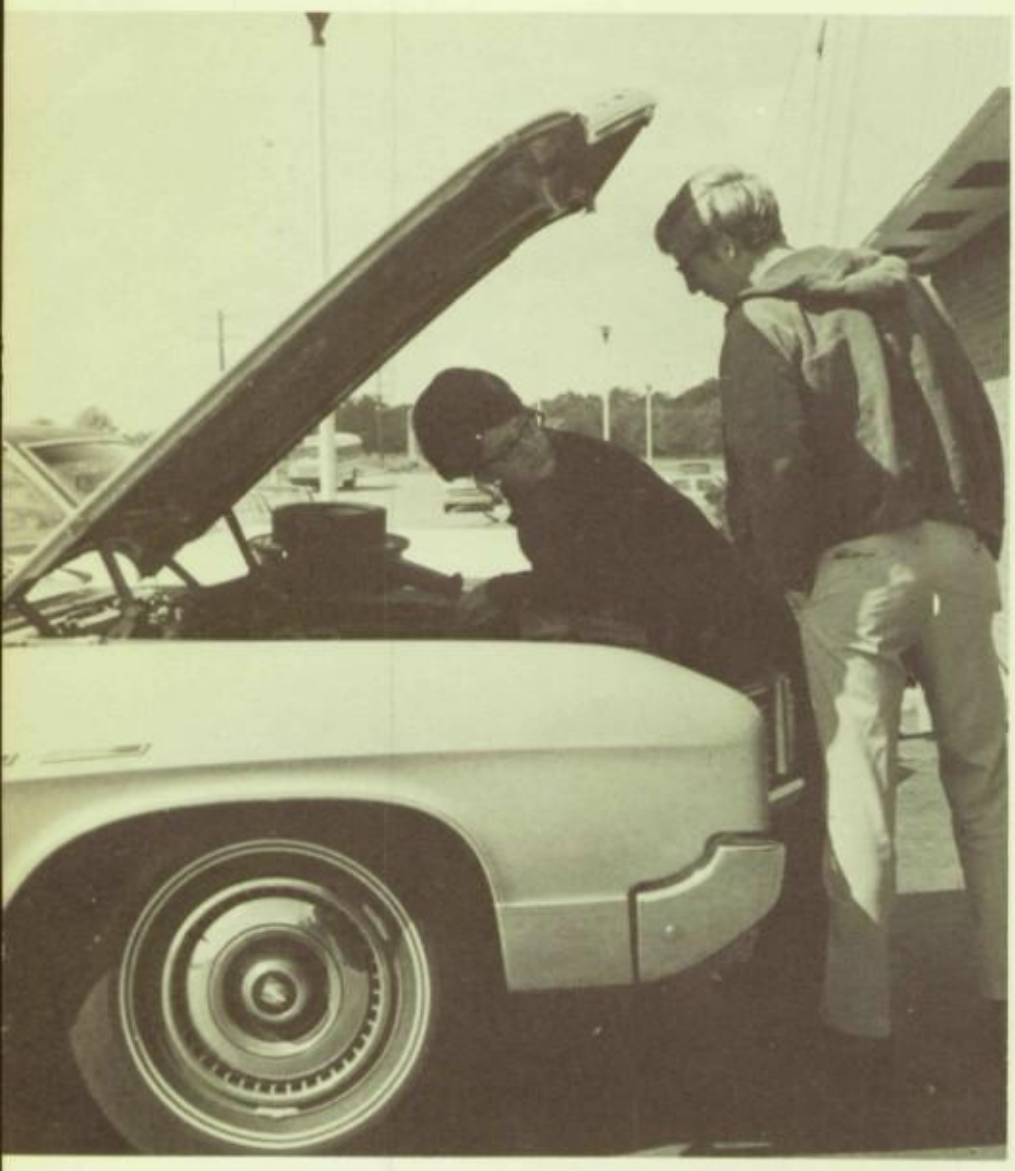
foreign language: broadens horizons

The Foreign Language Department offered three different languages, French, Spanish, and Latin. Students in each class were given a background in the history of each language and taught proper pronunciation of various words. This training will be beneficial in the expanding foreign affairs program of the United States. Instructors were: Linda Kehoe, B.S., Ball State; Shirley Pierce, B.A., Ball State; Norma Rush, A.B., Manchester.

home economics: prepares

The Home Economics Department stressed the importance of the individual as a consumer. Students were informed on the buying procedures of such commodities as furniture, food, and clothing. Instruction was also given in the fitting of clothing, table service, cooking, nursing and home planning. This training will enable students to lead better home lives.

Instructors were: Betty Arthur, B.S., Ball State; Janice Baumgartner, B.S., M.S., Ball State.



industrial arts: builds and repairs

The Industrial Education Department aided the overall program at Wawasee High School by giving students the opportunity to put to practical use the technical skills developed in the classroom. A variety of talents were developed in auto mechanics, machine shop, welding, technical drawing and drafting. Each individual student found himself in a situation where he could learn to work and cooperate with other people.

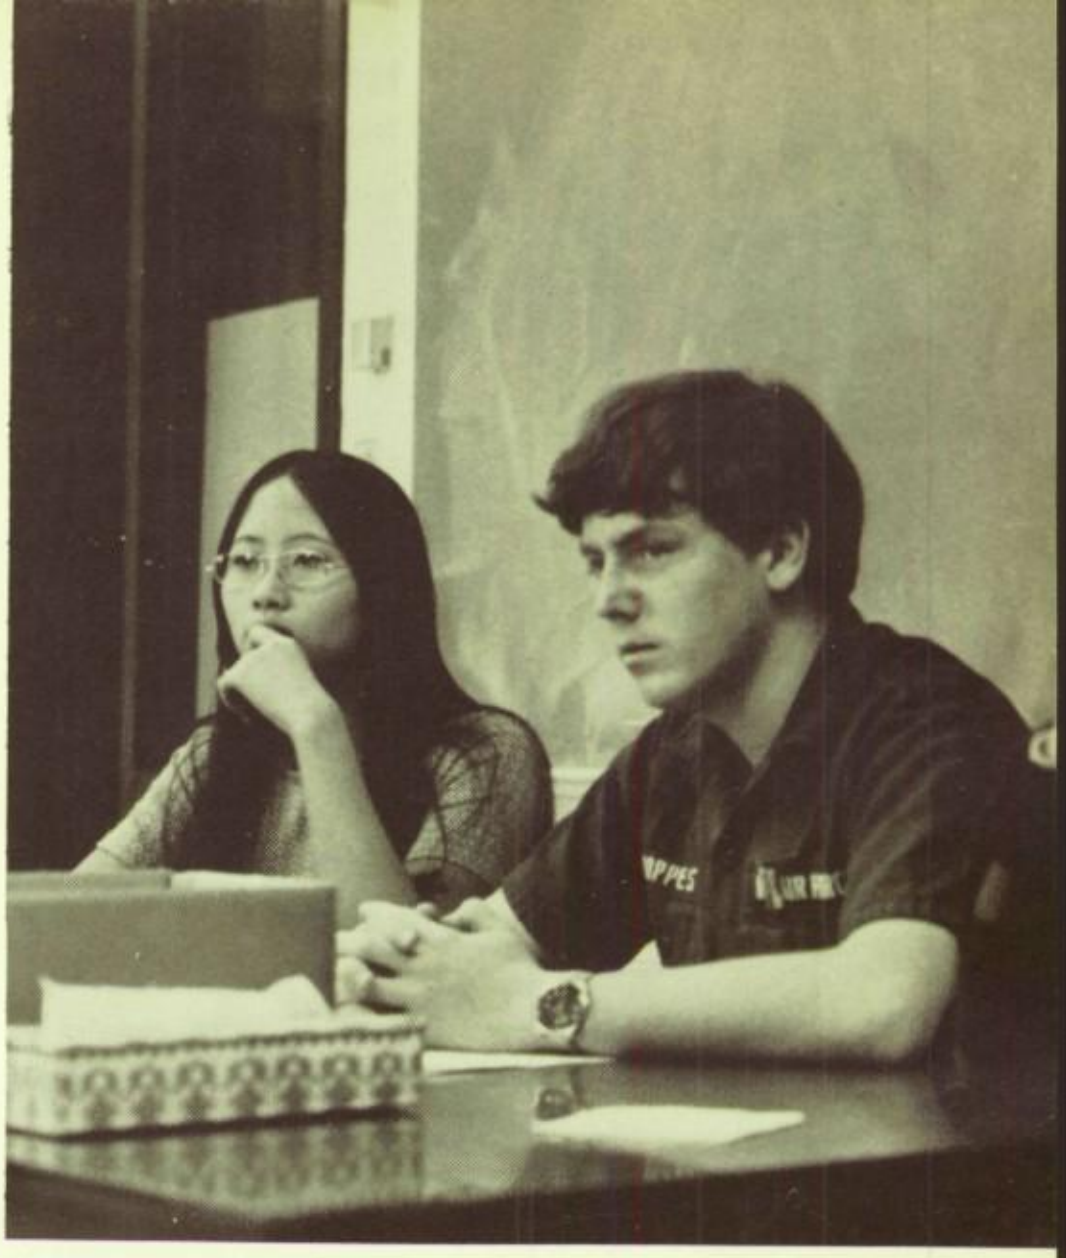
Instructors were: James Alford, B.S., M.A., Ball State; Rudy Cesco, B.S., M.A., Ball State; Ken Jordan, B.S., M.A., Ball State; Tom Robinson, 22 years experience.

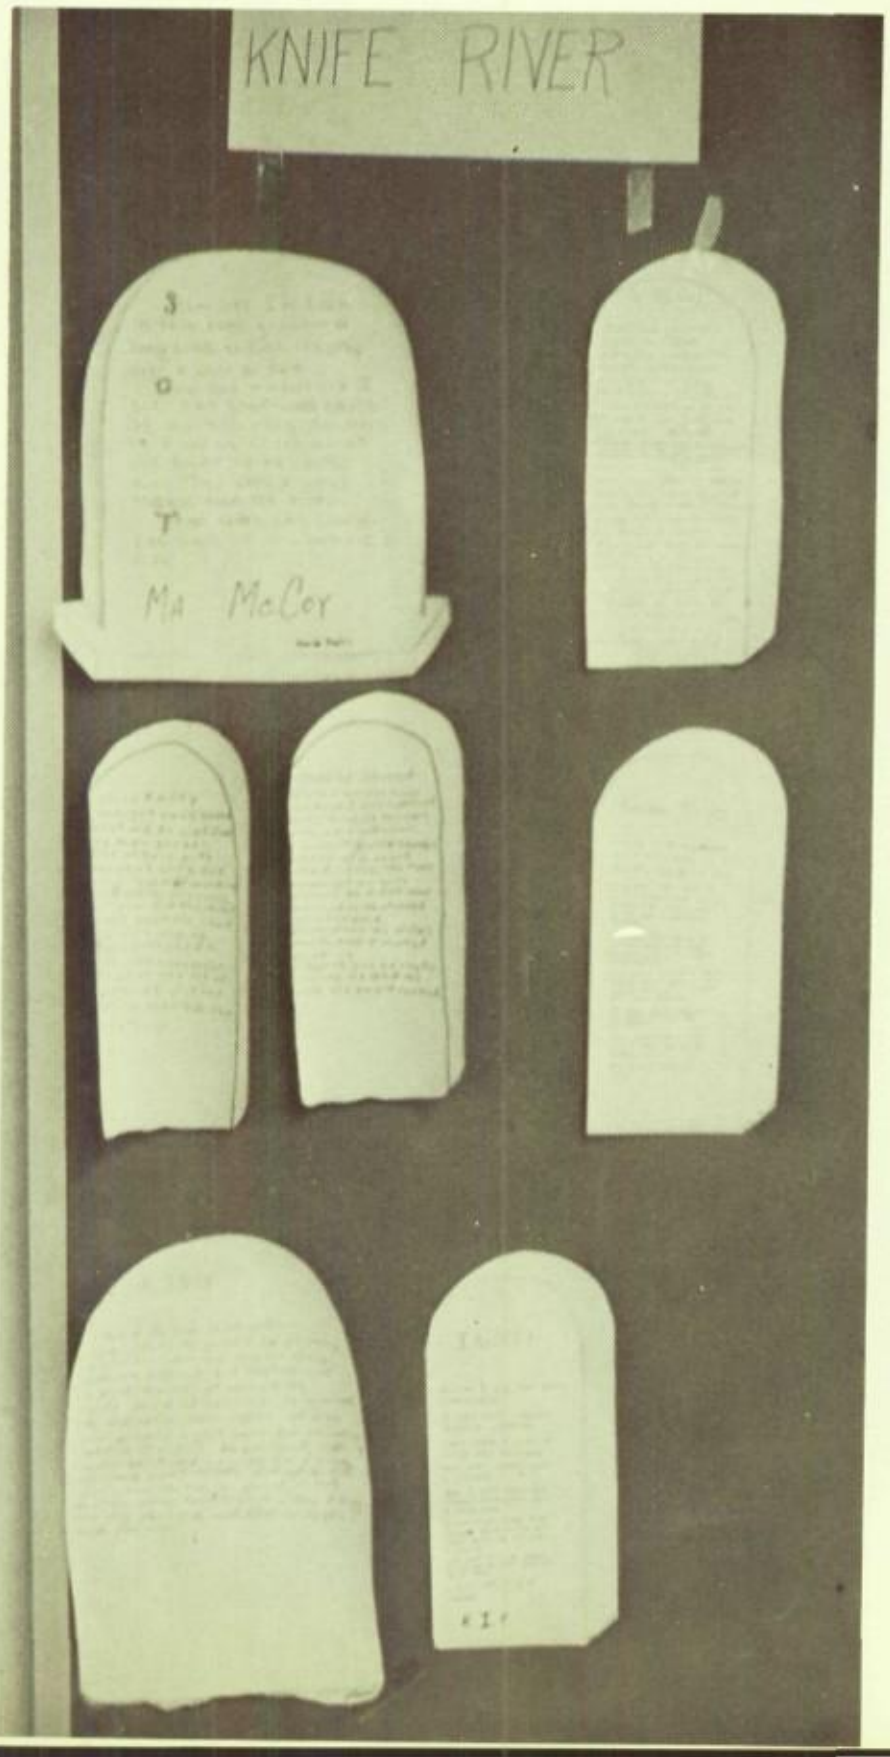
Instructor James Alford assists Dwight Dean in Machine Shop.

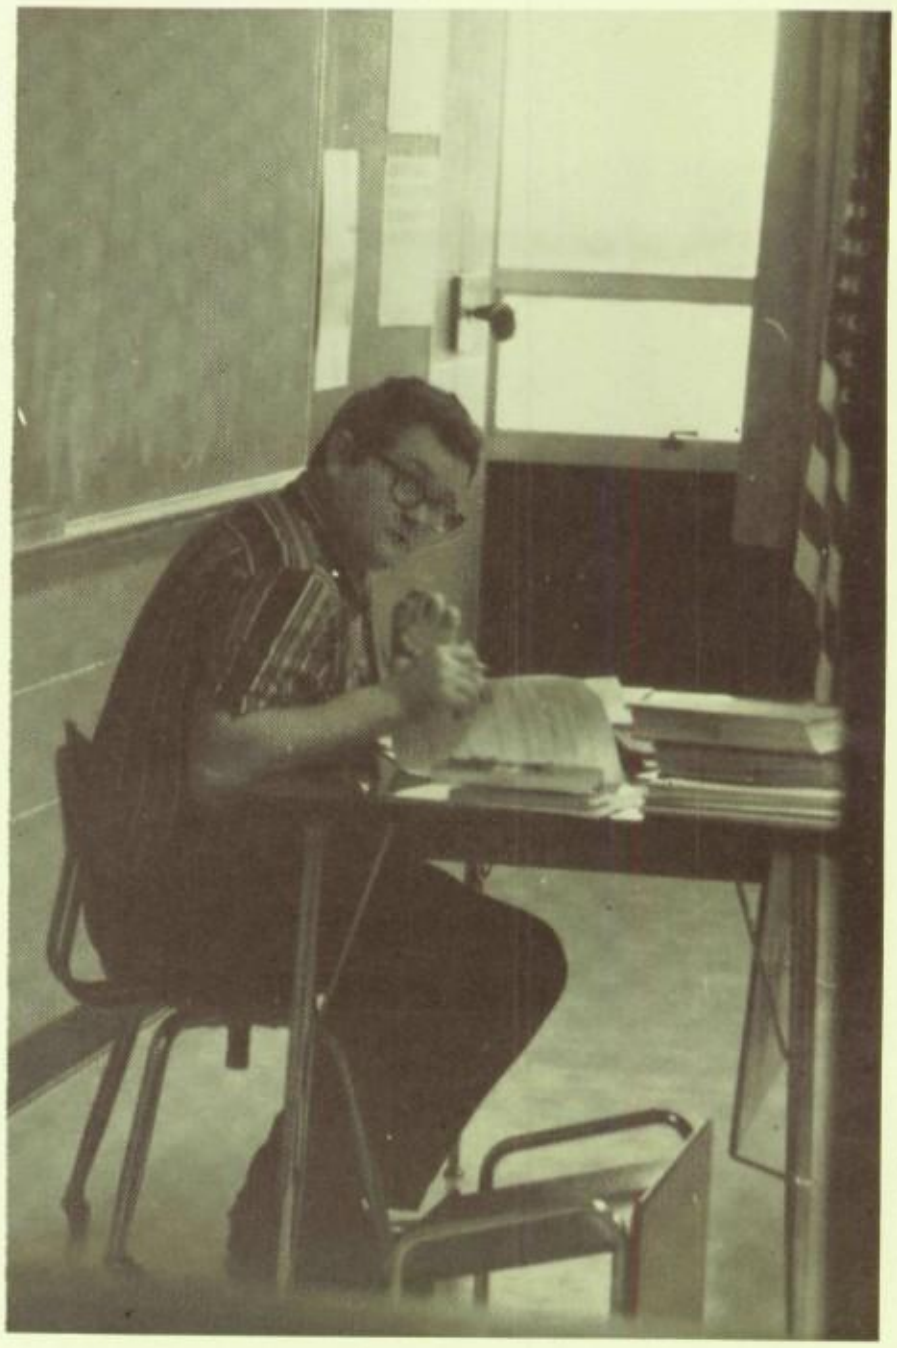
language: builds communications

The Language Arts Department gave students the opportunity to enrich themselves through speech, composition and the reading of plays, novels, poetry, and essays. A thorough background in the language arts is beneficial in all areas of study.

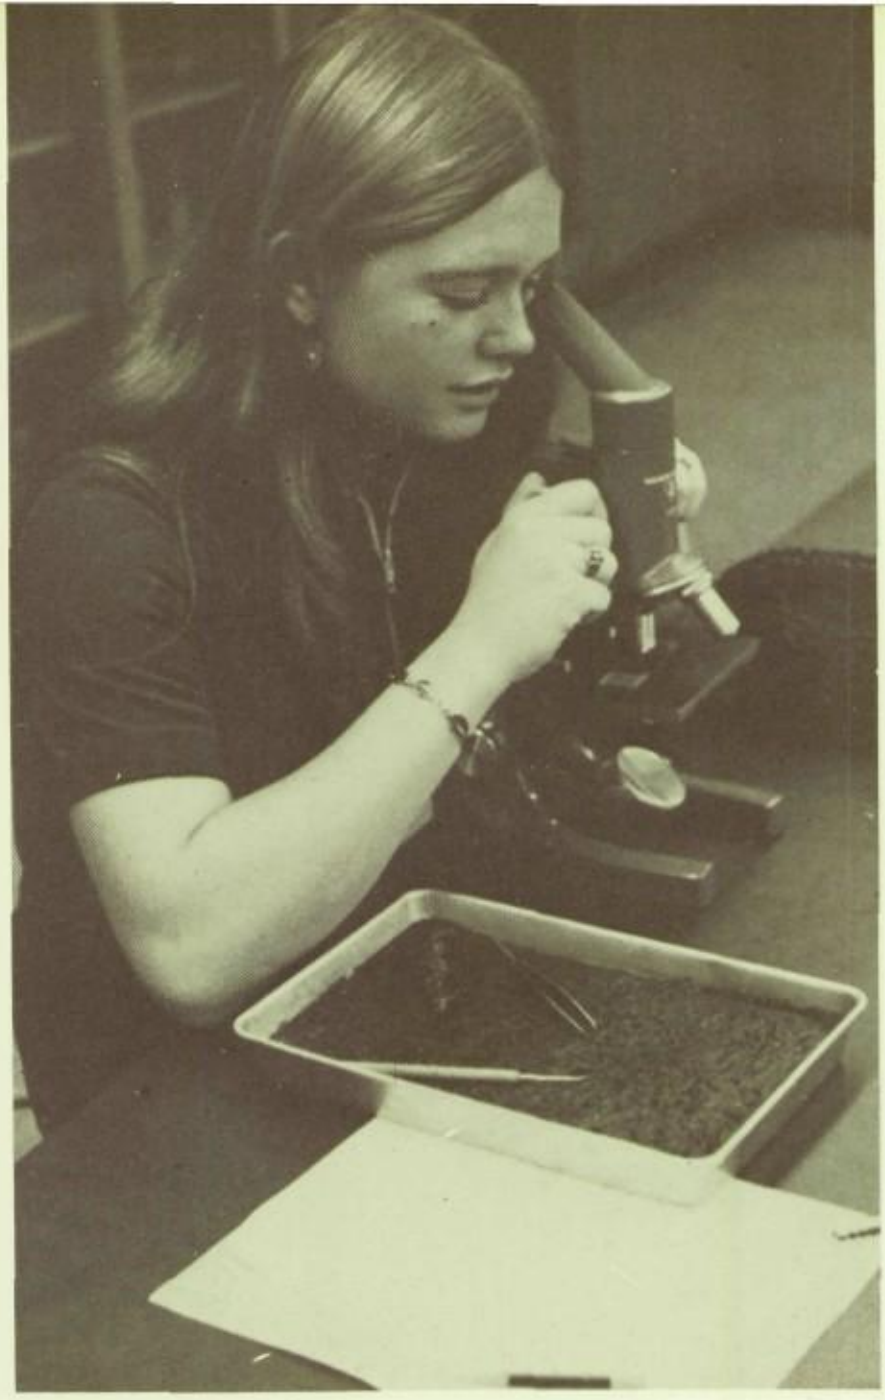
Instructors were: Philip K. Fawley, B.S., Manchester, M.A., Ball State; Linda Henry, B.A., Wittenberg; Terry Iden, B.S., M.A., Ball State; Roberta Powers, B.A., M.A., Ball State; Joel Robbins, B.A., Ball State; Norma Rush, A.B., Manchester; Max Ellen Smith, B.S., M.A., Ball State; Alan C. Zerkel, B.S., Manchester.







Brenda Hughes prepares for science fair.

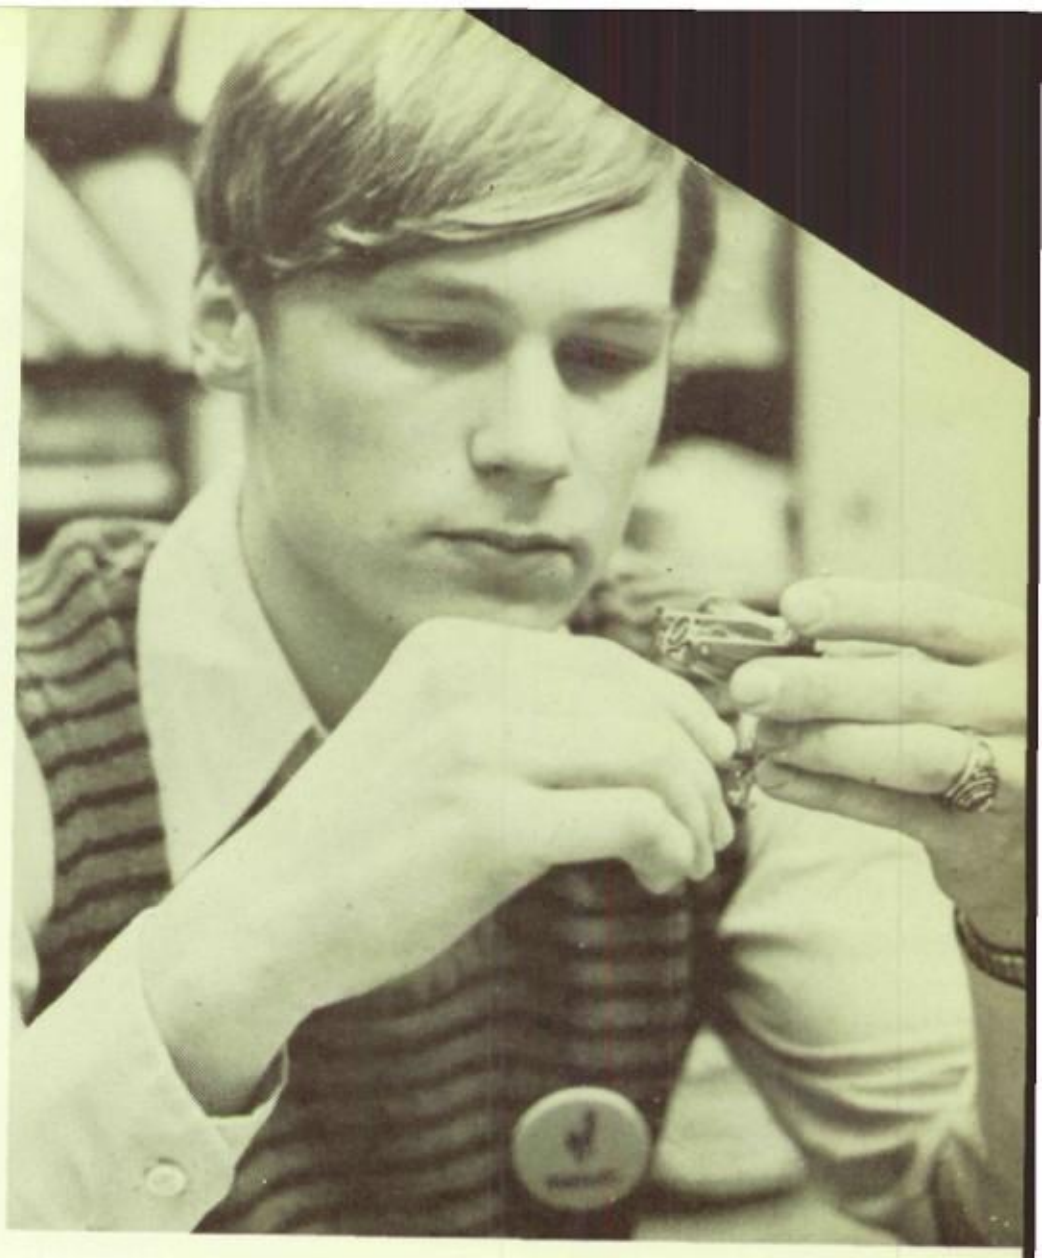


math and science: challenge the mind

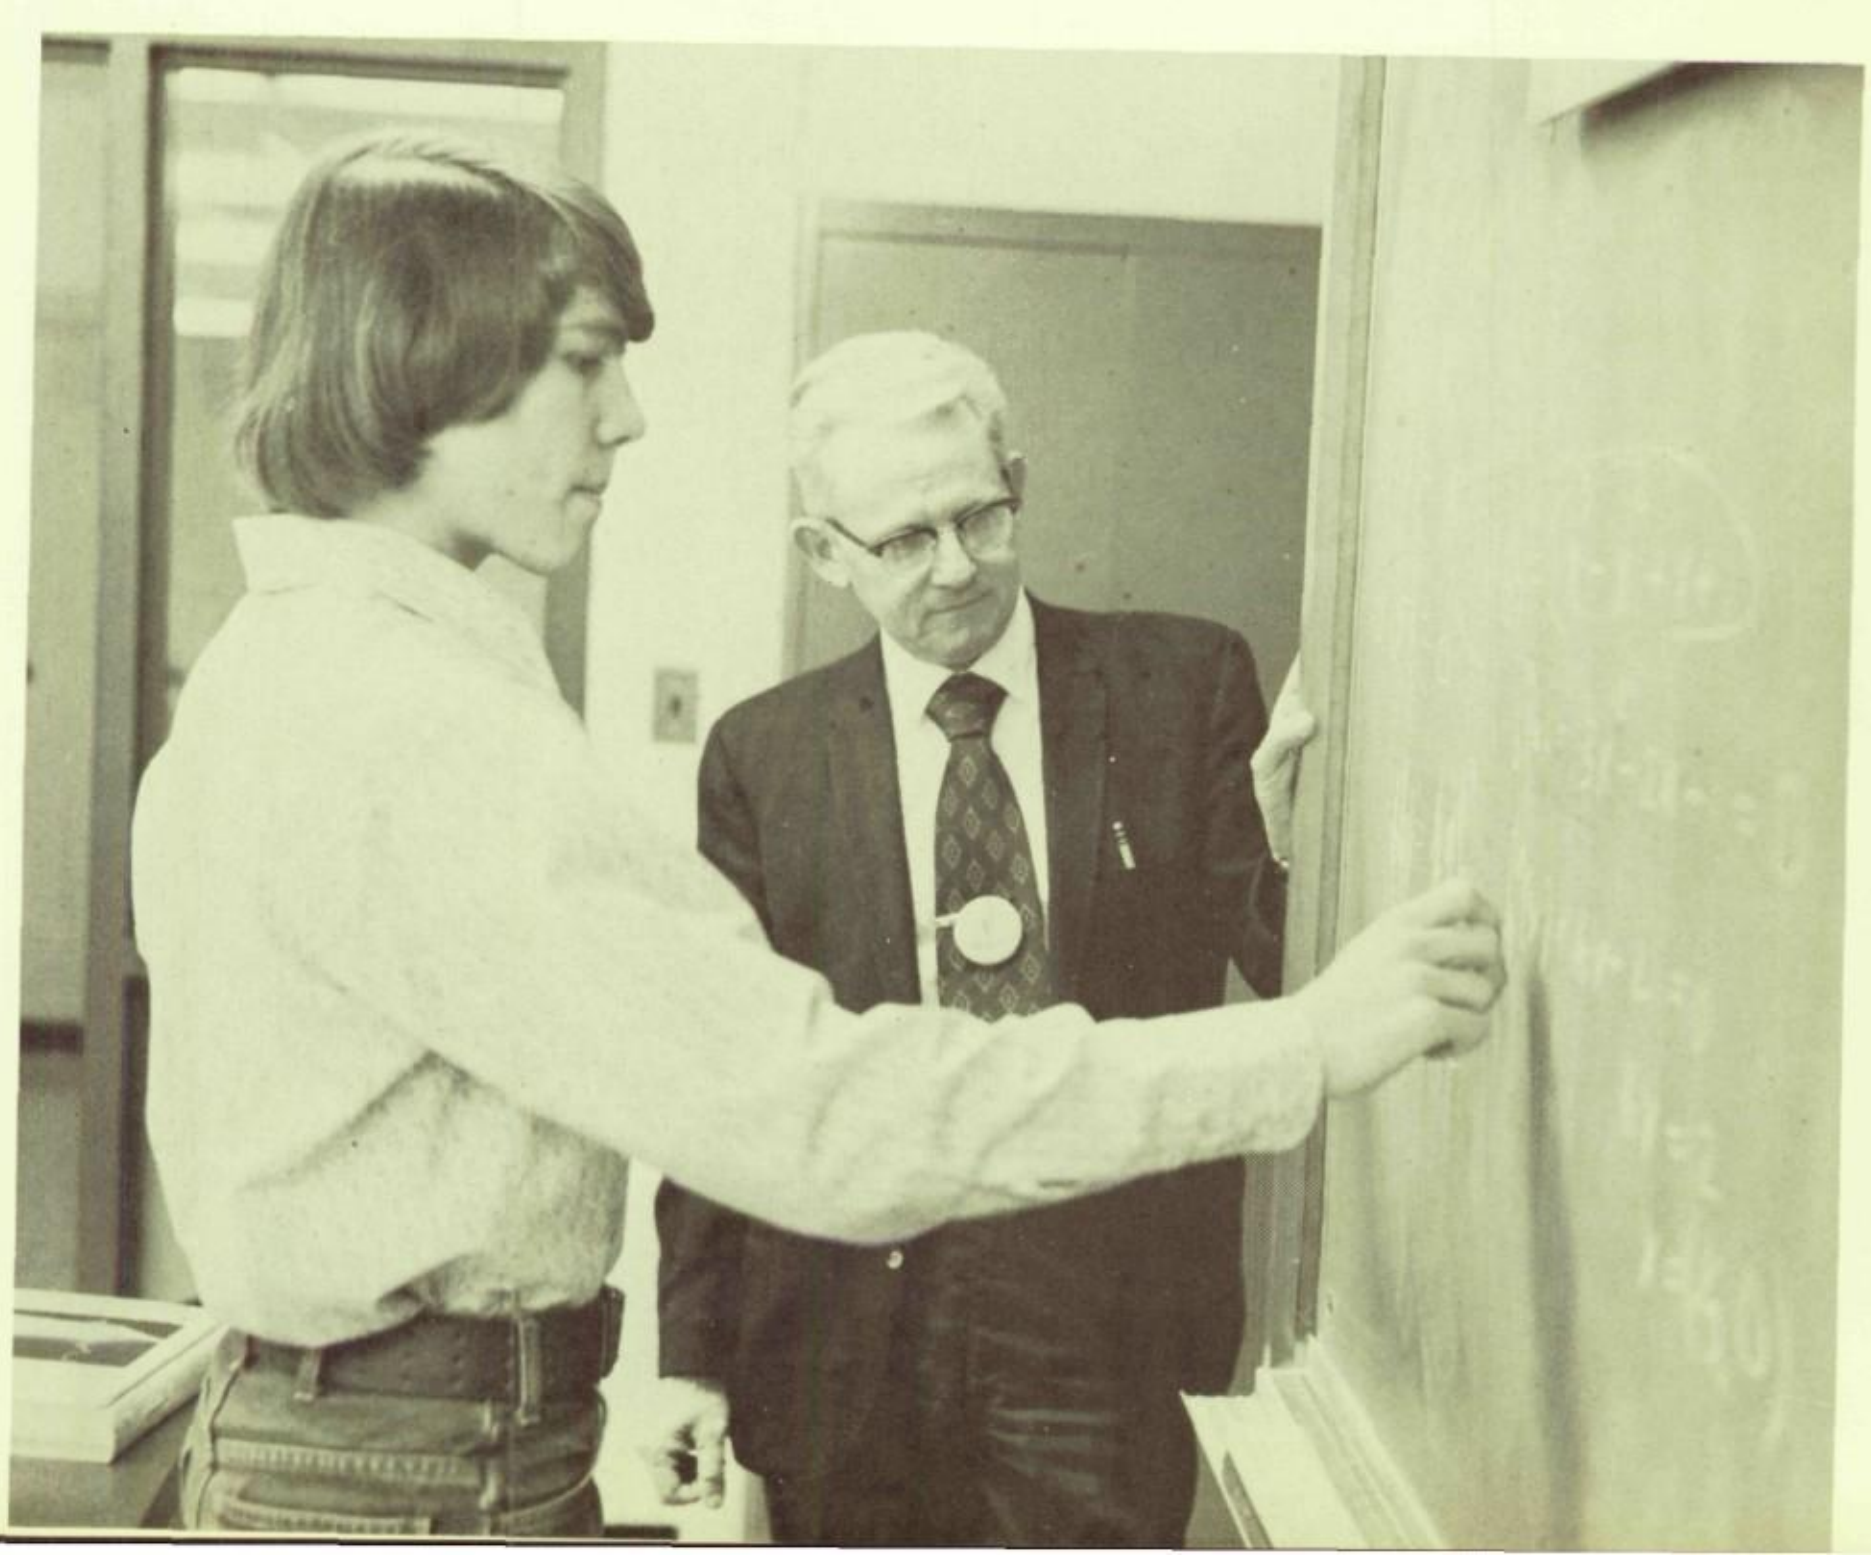
The Science and Math Departments provided students with an insight into a mechanical and logical aspect of life. The theorems, equations and formulas derived in math classes were tested through actual experimentation in the science curriculum.

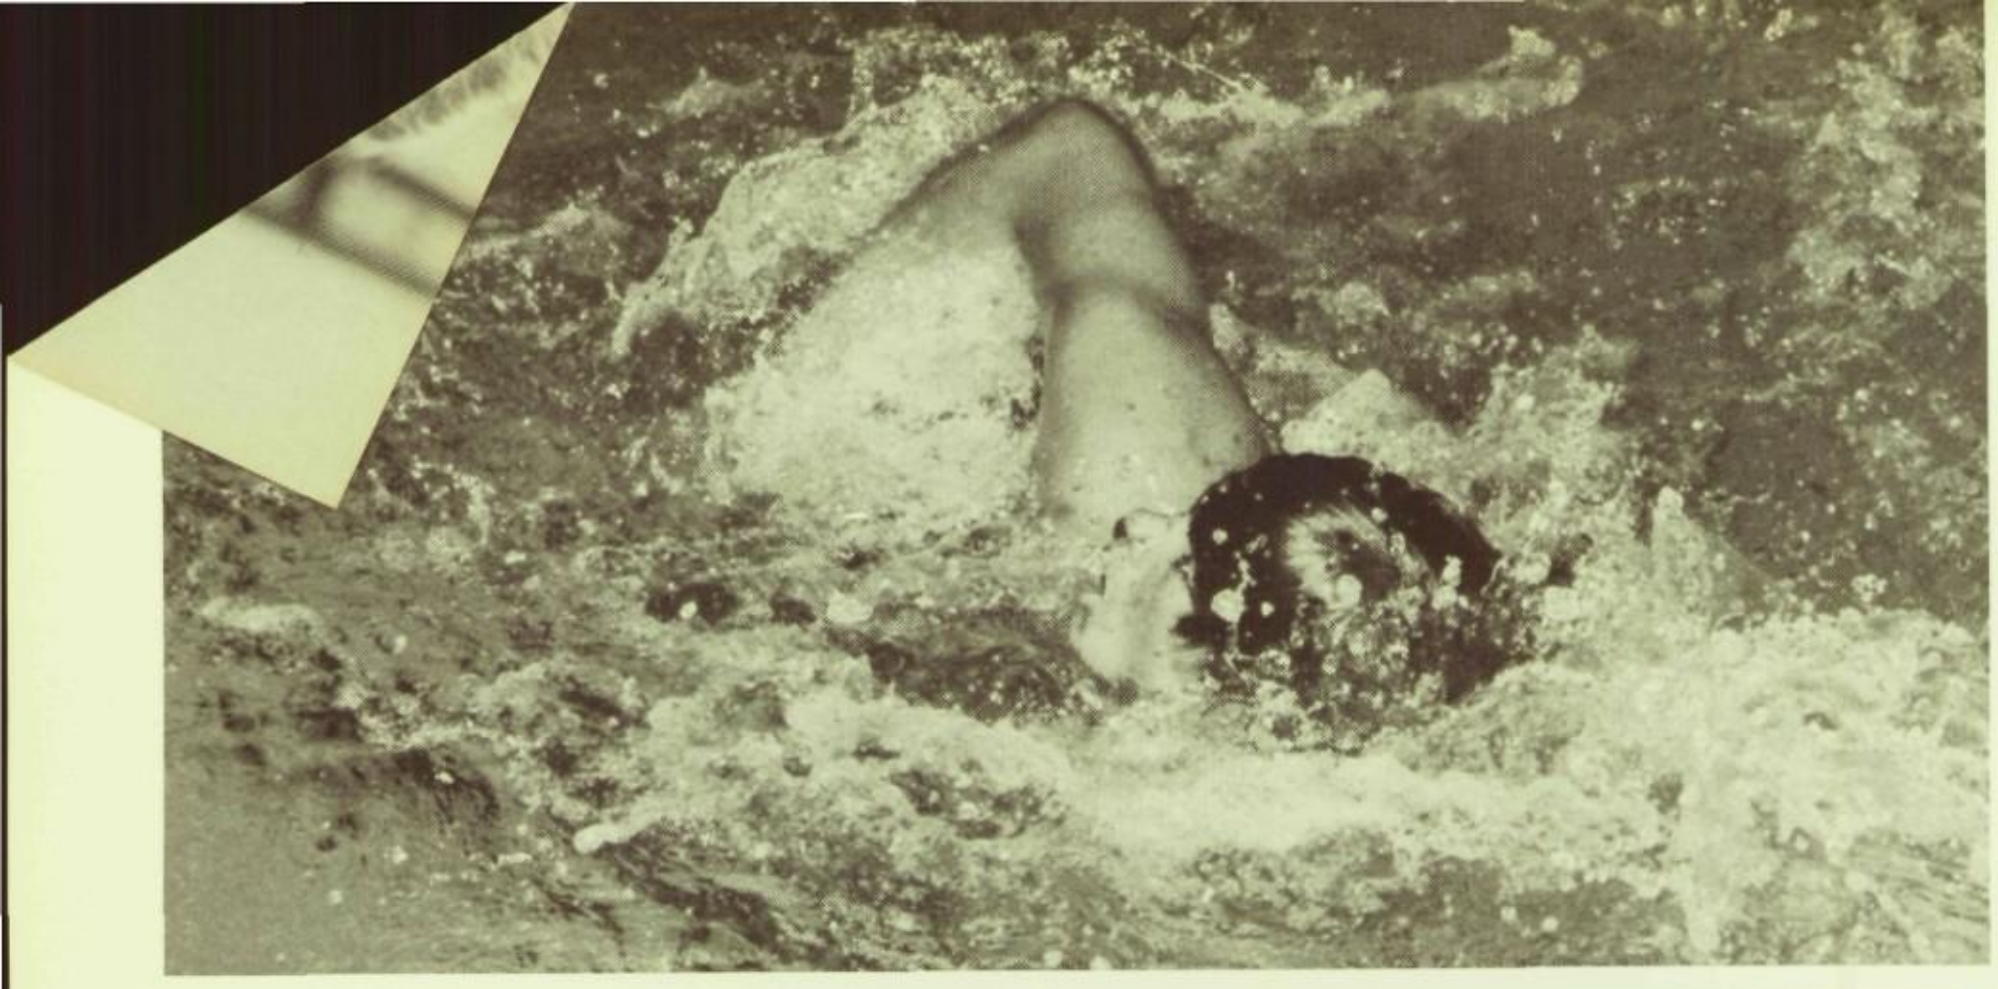
A combination study of both math and science gave students a better understanding of the close relationship which exists between these two areas of study.

Instructors were: Keith Bowman, B.S., M.S., Michigan; Terry E. Frank, B.S., Ball State, M.S., New Mexico; Karl Keiper, B.S., Manchester, M.S., Notre Dame; Robert Kitson, B.S., Manchester, M.A., Ball State; William K. Kitson, B.S., Manchester, M.A. Ball State; Michael L. Neff, B.S. Manchester, M.S., Purdue; Paul Royer, A.B., Manchester, M.A., Ball State; Donald D. Scholer, B.S., M.A., Ball State; Daryl Umbower, B.A., Grace, M.S., St. Francis.



Mr. Keith Bowman assists Scott Staley in the computation of a difficult math problem.





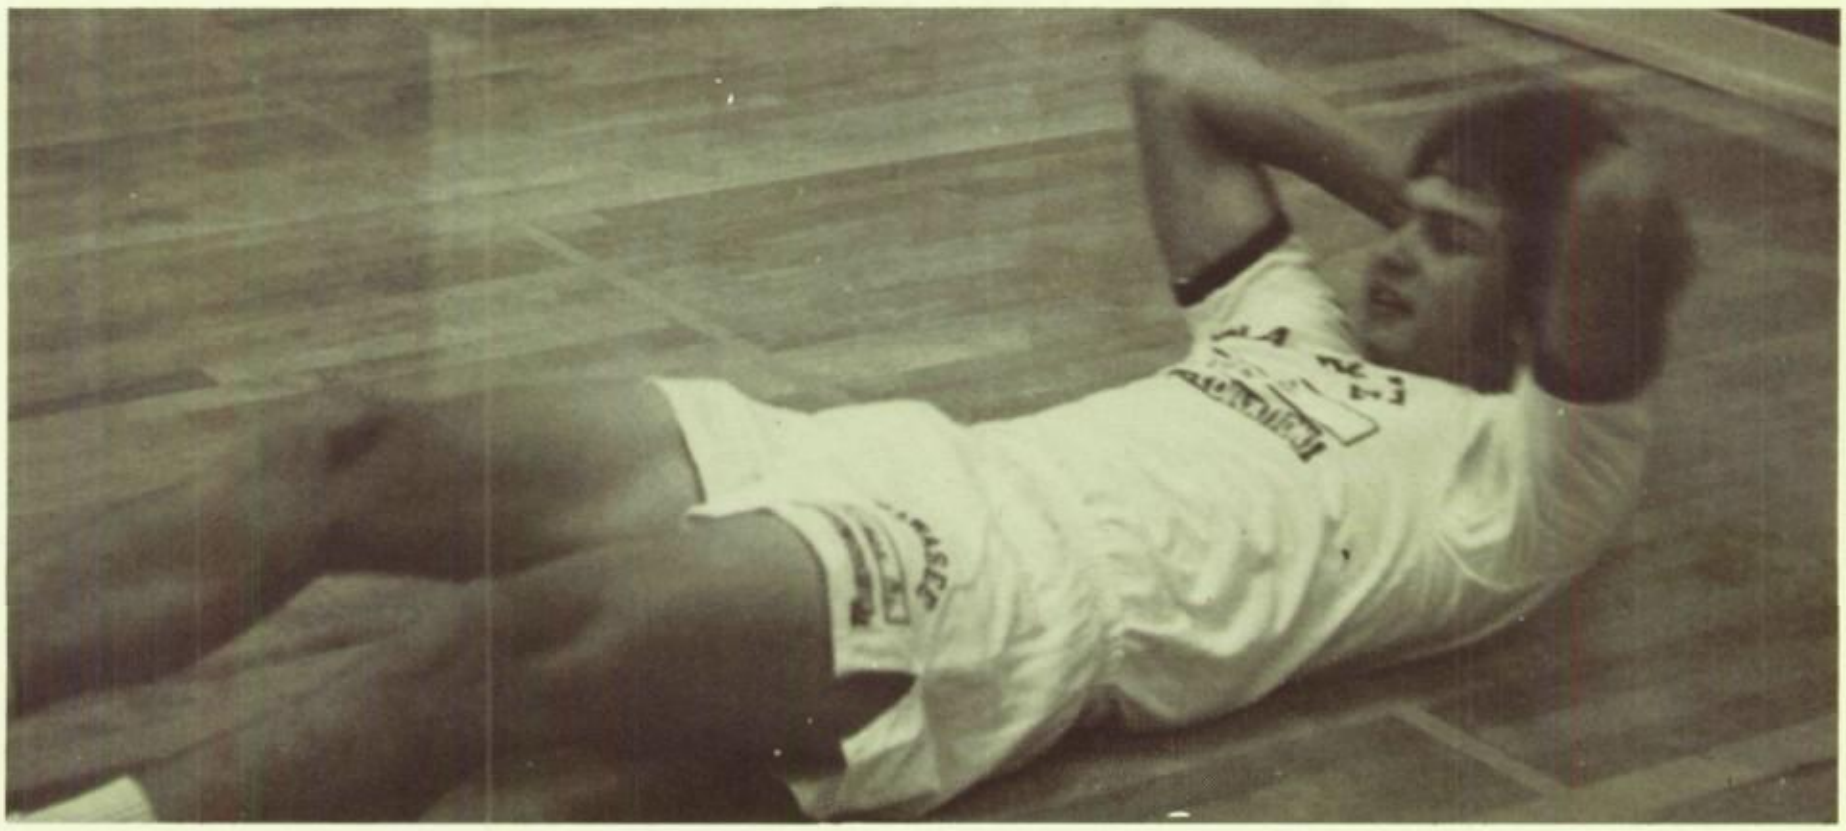
Physical education offered a variety of stimulating activities this year. Judo, bowling, and handball were only a few of the unusual sports included in the body building curriculum. Senior leaders set examples for underclassmen by perfecting their performances. Instructors spent many long, hot hours demonstrating varied aspects of each sport.

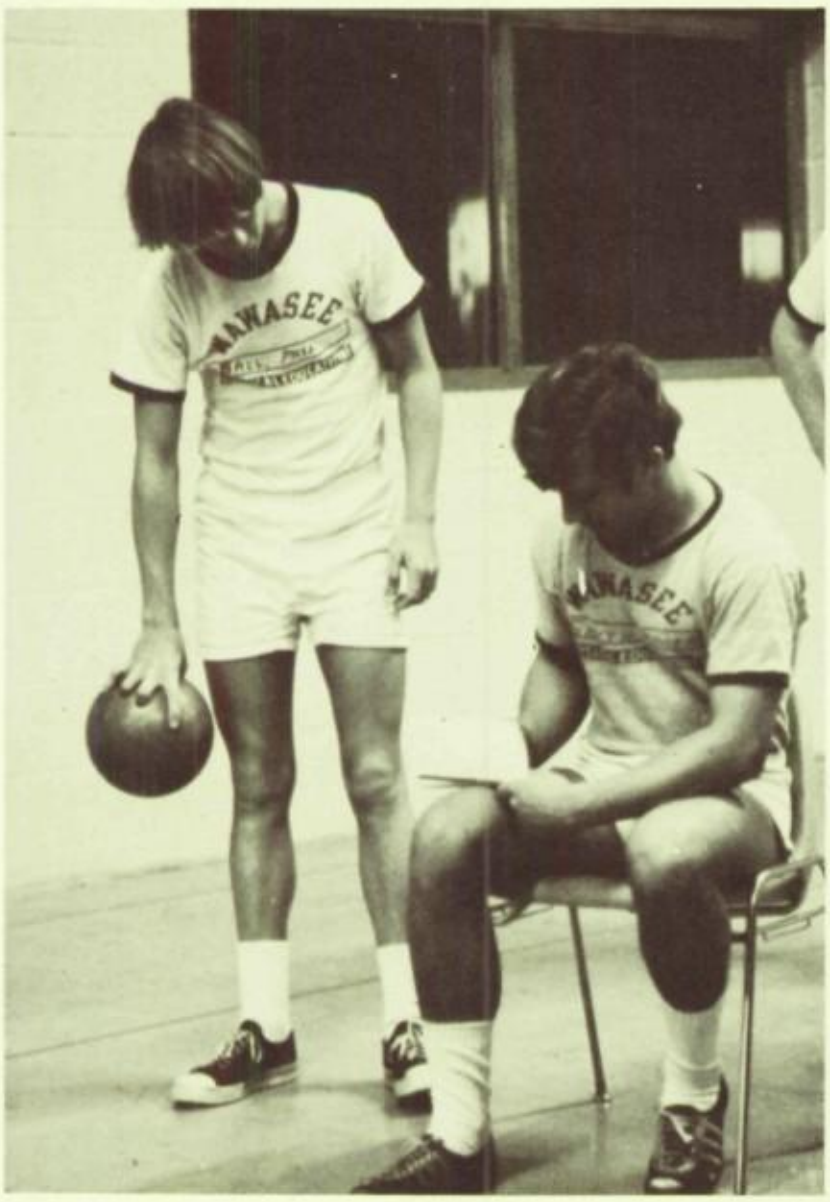
Instructors were: Dale Brannock, B.S., M.A., Ball State; Marcia Carpenter, B.S., M.A., Ball State; Cindy Peterson, B.S., Ball State; David T. Rankin, B.S., Purdue; Don Storey, B.S., Manchester, M.A., St. Francis.

Dave Mahorney completes an exciting game of teather ball.

Mrs. Peterson instructs these girls on the basics of uneven parellel bars.

physical education: builds bodies





Senior leader Roger Smith tallies bowling scores.

Mrs. Peterson demonstrates the basics of judo with Jennifer Longenecker.

social studies: examine our species

The Social Studies Department provided an insight into man, his culture and his world. These studies permitted students to build a better understanding of themselves and the world around them.

Instructors were: Ronald D. Corson, B.A., Manchester, M.A., Ball State; Tony S. Clouse, B.S., Manchester, M.S., Indiana; Thomas E. Spear, B.A., M.A., Purdue; Vernon G. Zurcher, B.S., Huntington, M.A., Ball State.

council: voice of the students board: "guilty or not guilty?!?"

At the Christmas season the Student Council passed out cokes, apples, oranges and candy during the study halls. At the noon hour Santa arrived with a bag full of goodies for all.

Lead by Tim Mosier the Student Council was able to communicate with the students and with the faculty.

Members of the Governing Board hear a student appeal on which they will base their final decision.

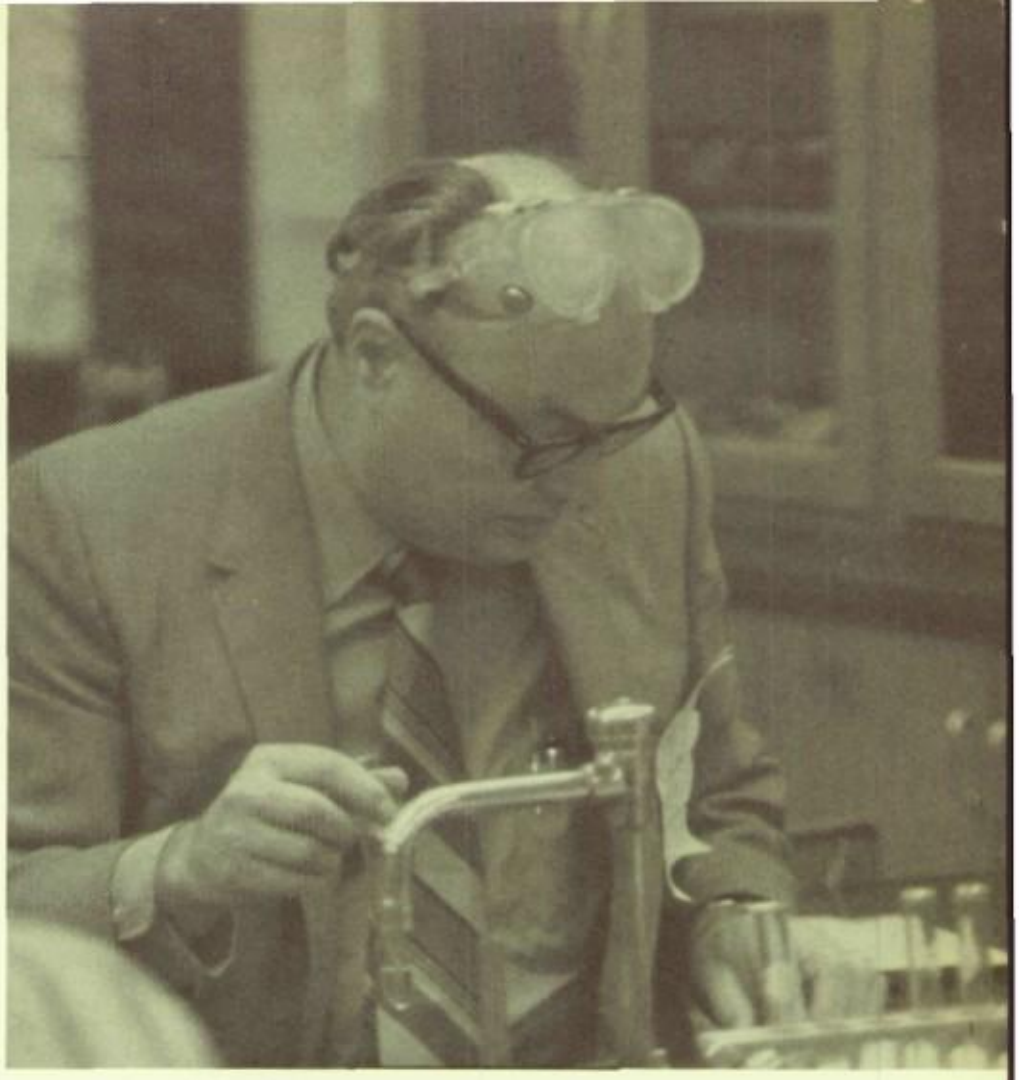
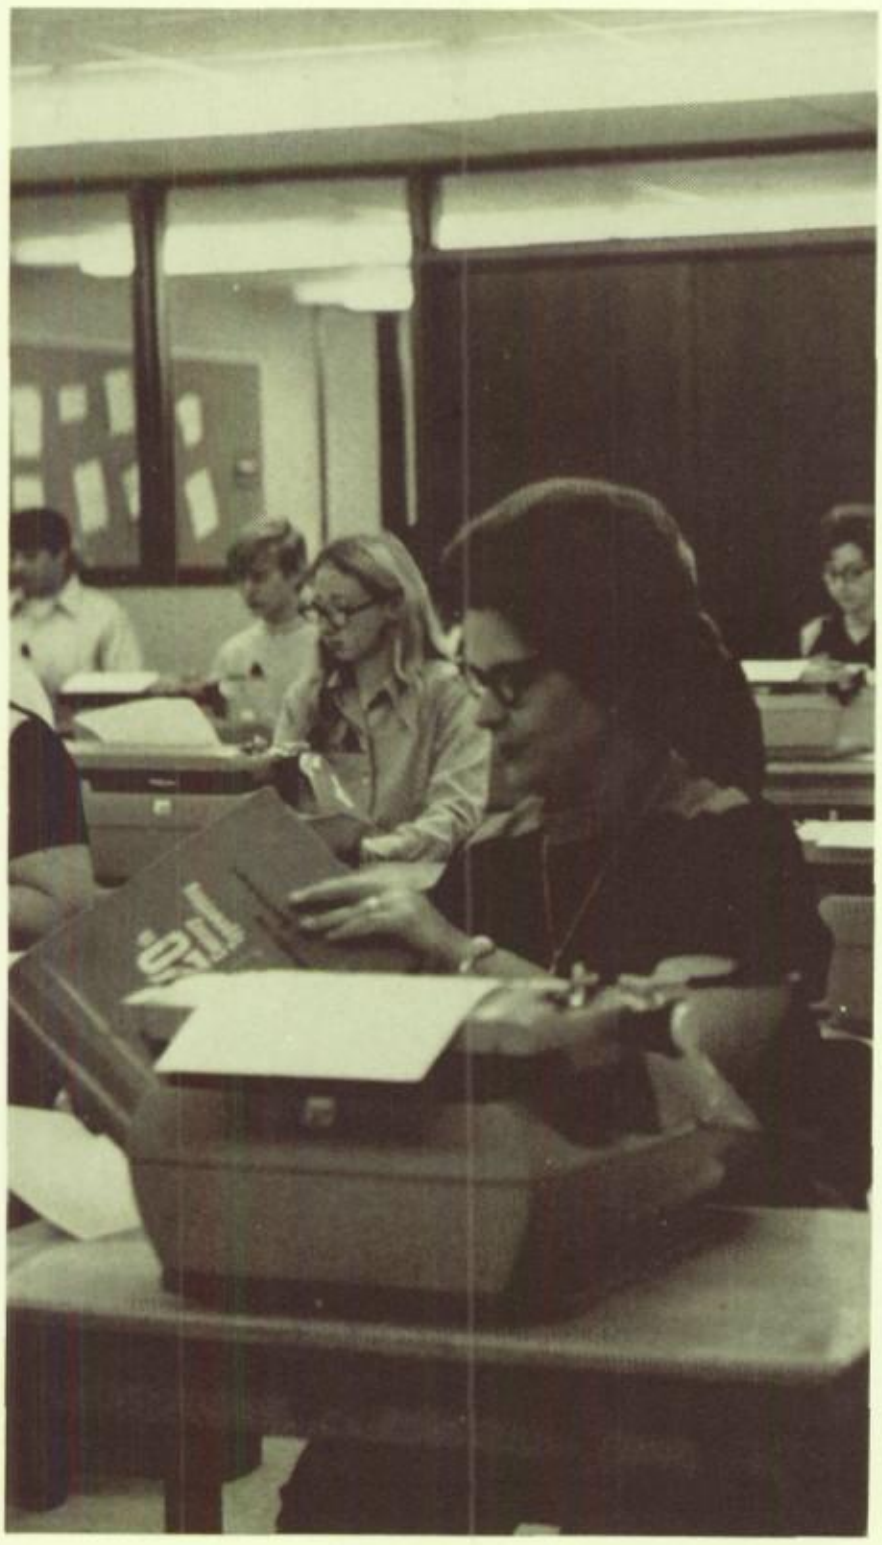
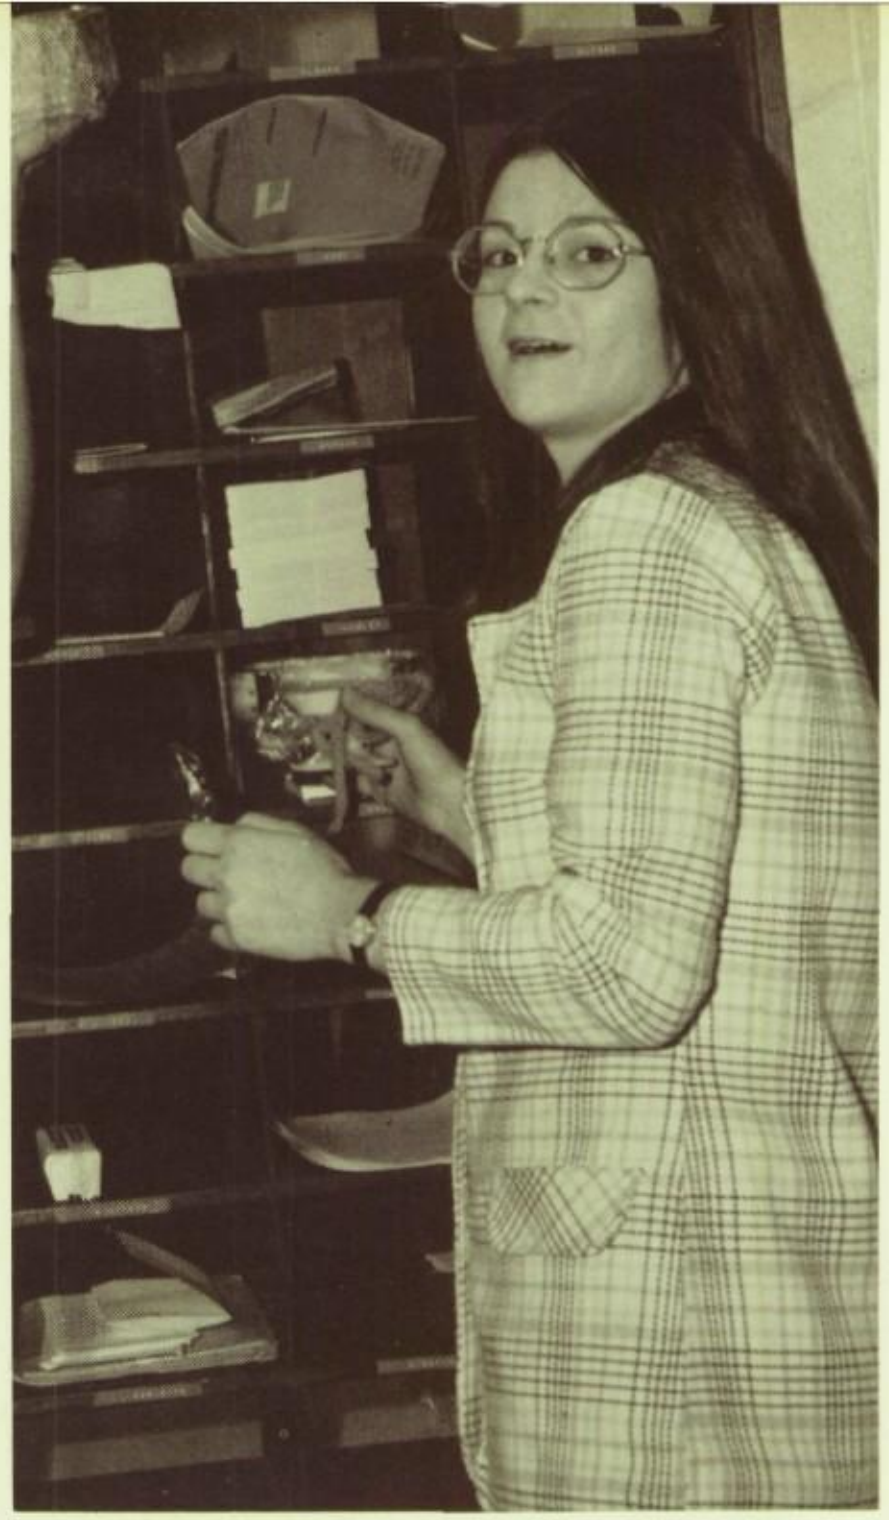
f.t.a.: a beginning for future teachers

Heading into their fourth year, the Future Teachers were the most active club at W.H.S. In October they held their annual fall dress-down. Bobbing for apples, balloon bust, and gunny sack races made for an evening of laughter and fun. F.T.A. was the founder of the much successful Swap Day. Adults, serving as students, attended classes, activities, and study halls. Yet, amid the laughter and confusion was a learning experience for all involved. At the state convention the club walked away with a scrap book award and was also named one of three honor chapters in the state. The elf program was also continued this year and cakes, candy and other goodies were a common sight in the teacher's mailroom. On May 8th the club held their last meeting of the year in which teachers found out who their respective elves were.



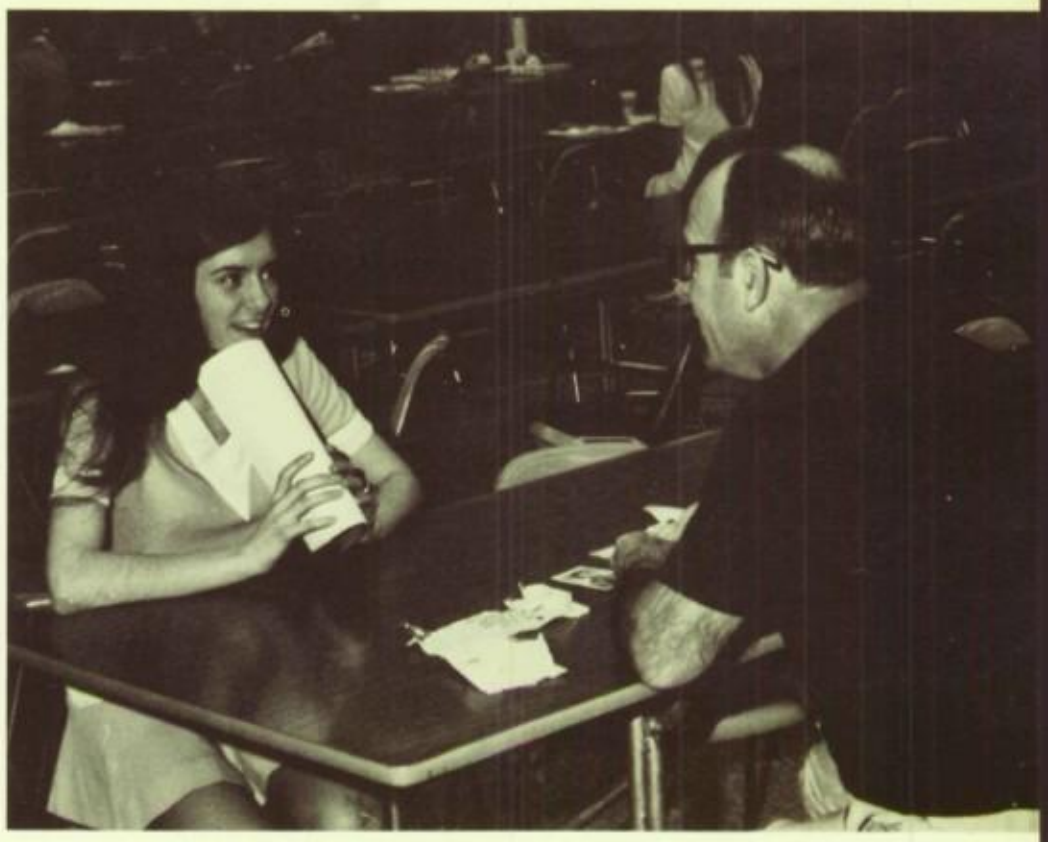


Northwood F.T.A.ers visited W.H.S. and after a busy afternoon took time for refreshments and a discussion period.



Nancy Crowl appears startled as she is caught placing another elf goodie in her teacher's mailbox.

Mr. Umbower samples the goodies at the F.T.A. Teacher Tea. Meanwhile Mr. Jordon anxiously opens his gift from his elf, Poca.



Mr. Zurcher and his elf, Darcy Wolferman, discuss the elf program and laugh at past pranks.

f.f.a.: initiation is fun

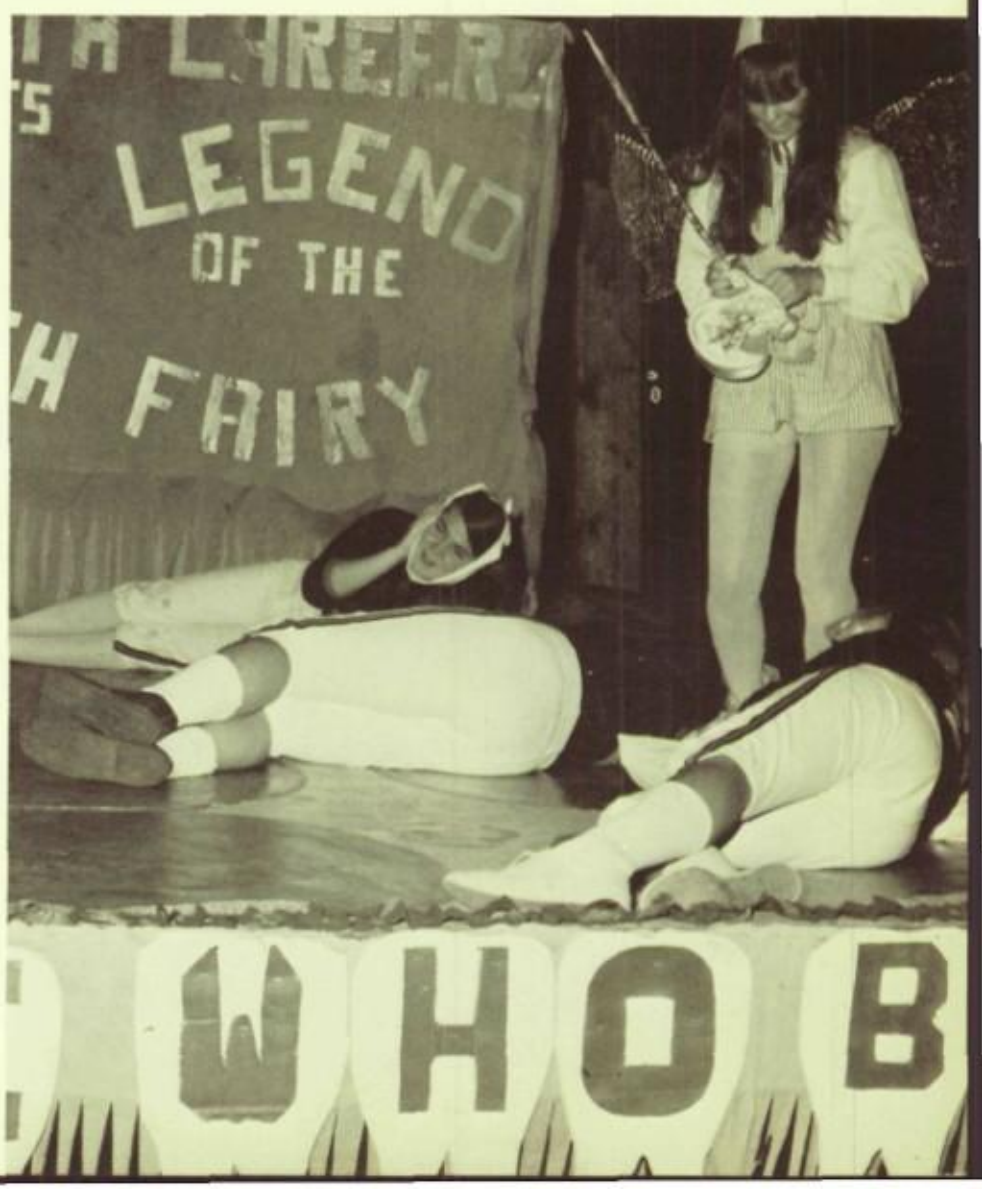
f.h.a.: develop future skills

"Daddy Date Night" and various parties were part of the club's activities during the school year.

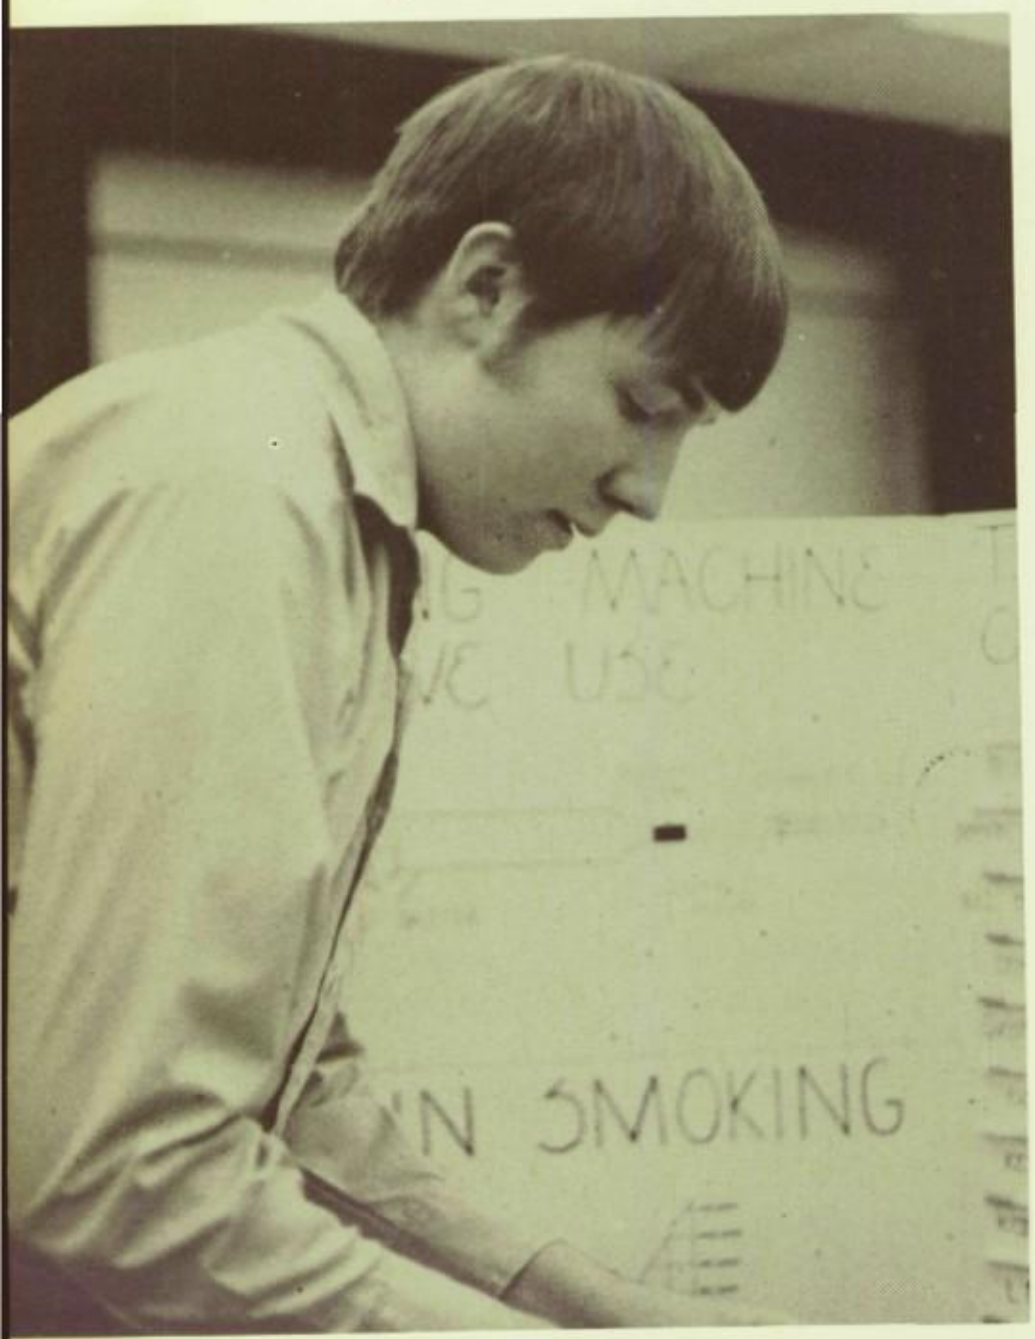
All work and worries paid off as President Penny Wiggs accepts the Homecoming Trophey for the club's entry.

health careers: conscientious

Health Career girls are people dedicated in making the world a better place in which to live. The girls worked at Goshen Hospital and at a nursing home. Doing various jobs and members prepared themselves for a future dedicated to nursing. With the aid of Mrs. Fran Eby, the school nurse, the club was able to hear many interesting speakers.



science club: expands fair



The Science Club under the direction of Mr. Paul Royer, participated in their fourth annual science fair. Held in the school commons during the month of March the fair turned out to be the biggest and best yet. The honor of Grand Champion was awarded to Mark Grady. Using an experiment dealing with "Electro Culture," Mark showed the various ways in which plants respond to an external stimuli. The club also took a field trip to South Bend where they attended the annual National Aeronautical Space Administration Show. The speaker informed the member of the different functions and activities of Nasa.

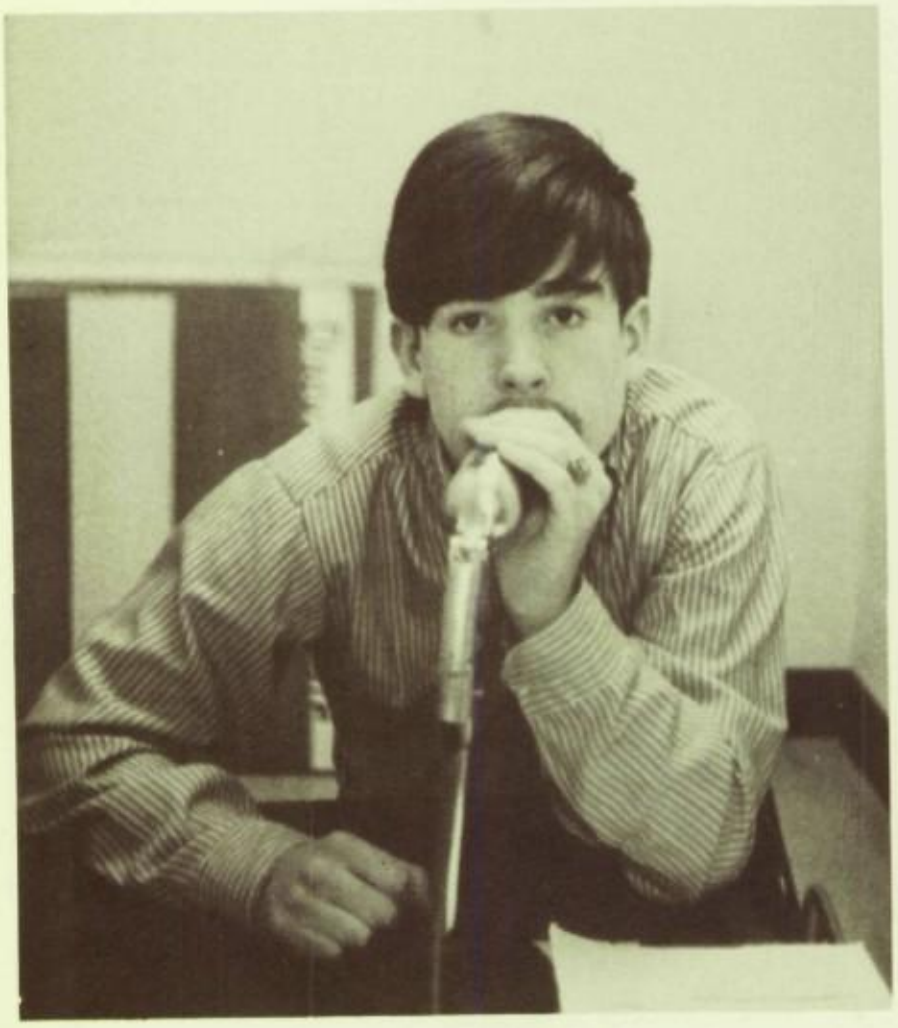
Participating in the 1972 Homecoming parade, the club float made it's debut.

radio: whls makes debut



Dan Sharp, alias Howard Cosell, was a big hit on WHLS and at many WHS sporting events.

Alan Brown is head of the assembly line at the "chicken barbeque" sponsored by the radio club.

art club: develops creative potential foreign language: teaches customs

This year the Foreign Language Club was open to all students who held an interest in gaining more knowledge of the Spanish and French language and its customs. The Clubs met monthly where they organized their activities. These activities where a Halloween party, Spring dinner, and they combined together to enjoy a Christmas party. These clubs also helped to boost spirit during the Sectional with their many posters. Nancy Crowl as President of the Spanish Club and Sandy Strand as President of the French Club helped to enlighten the year with their lingustic ability.

intramurals: encourages competition

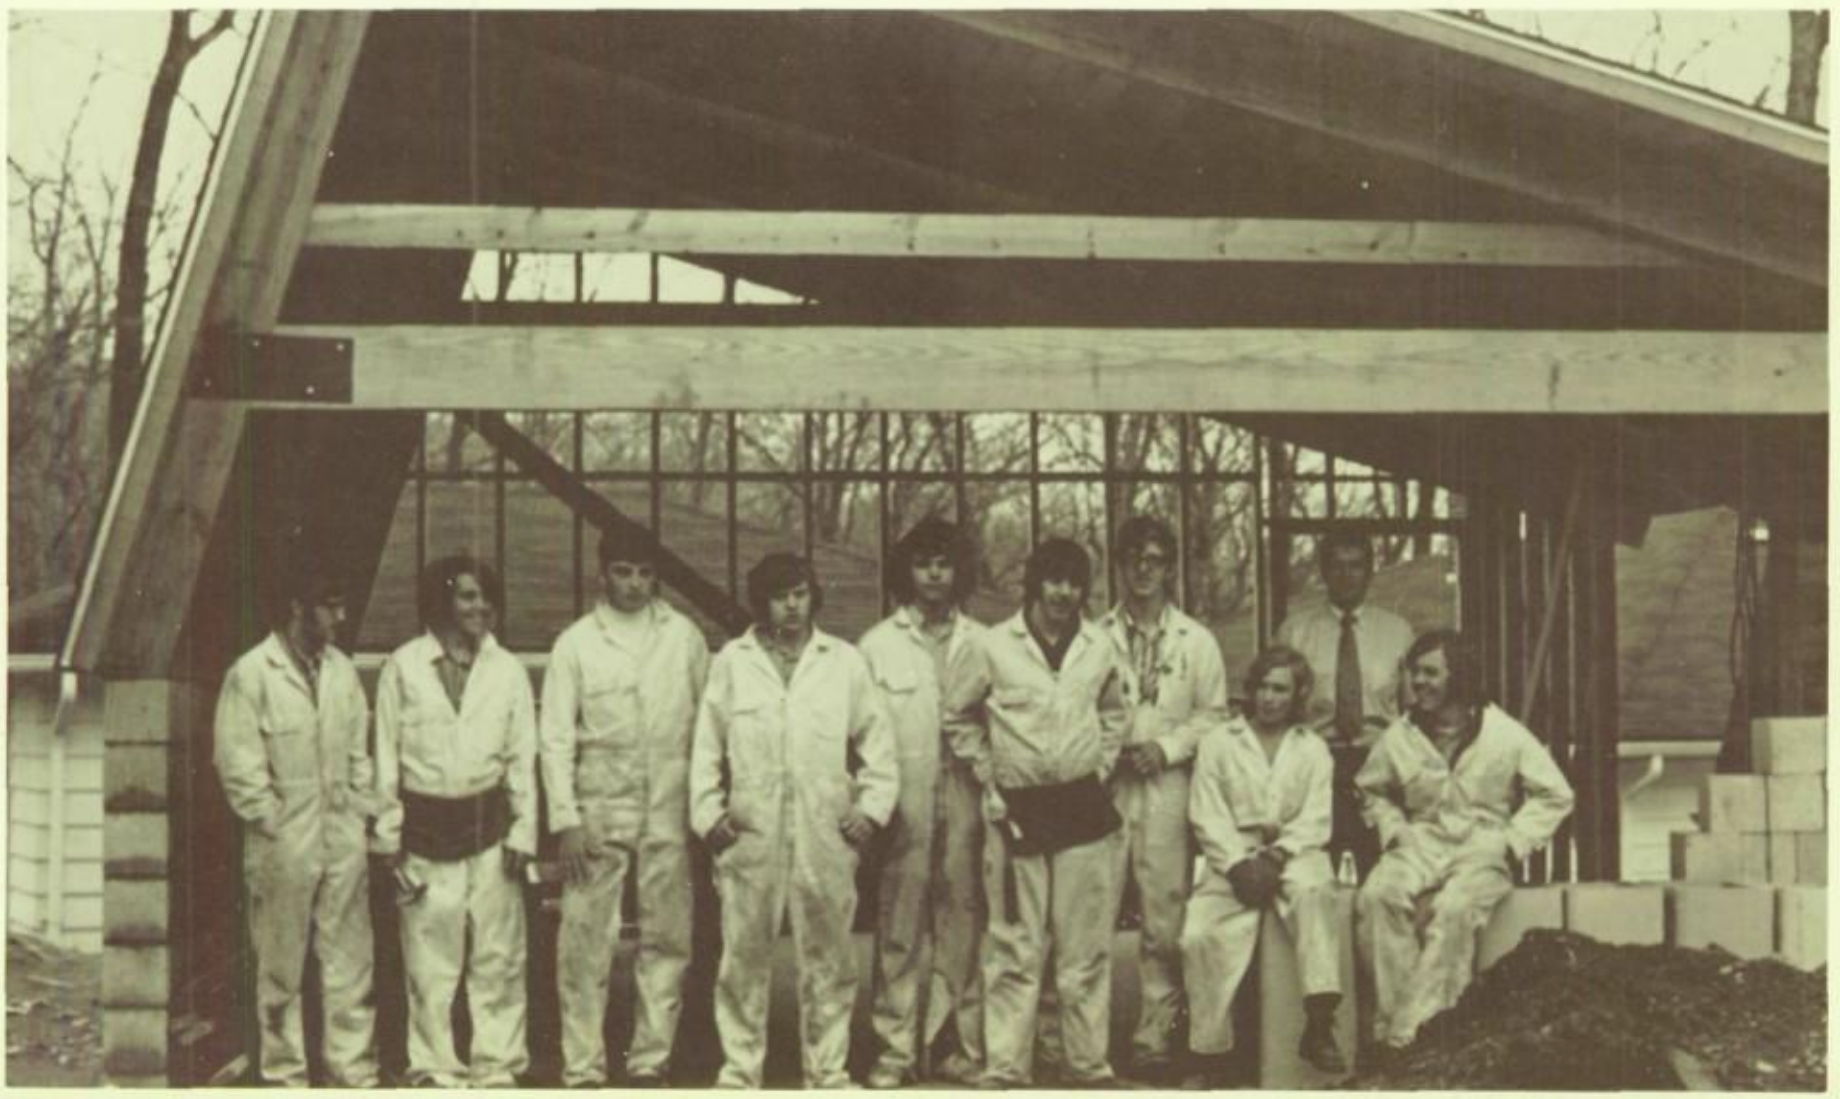
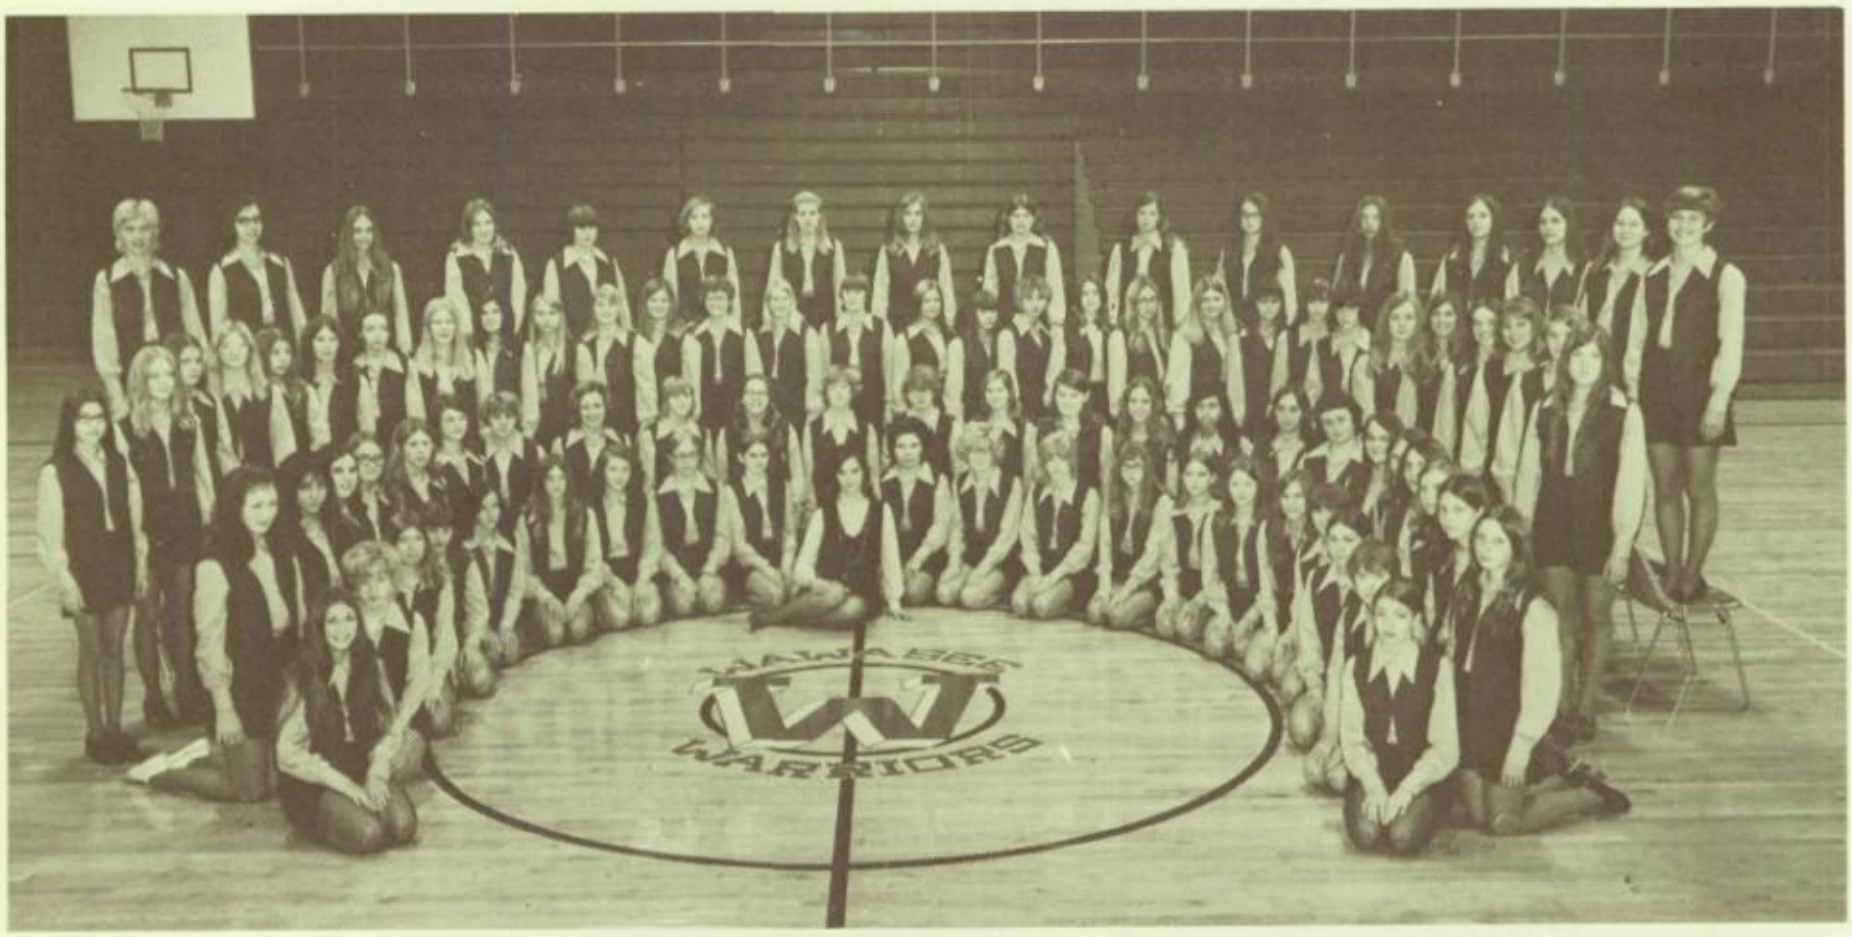
industrial arts: gain experience

Although the Industrial Arts Club had very few members, the boys proved to be a valuable asset to the school and the surrounding community. The auto mechanics class often was busy tinkering with a car belonging to a student, teacher, or some other person from our area. One of the classes, under the direction of Mr. Rudy Cesco, spent the greater portion of the year designing and building a carport. Known as the "Ditch Diggers", the boys spent two hours a day working exclusively on their project. Other classes were kept busy with the many jobs brought to them by various W.H.S. personnel. Shelves were fixed, hinges repaired, and tables built for the respective departments.

With everyone working together, the "Ditch Diggers" complete their project feeling a sense of pride and satisfaction.



girls' sports club: chili supper,



buttons, and spirit unite girls

Starting their first year, Girls' Sports Club proved both successful and helpful. Aiding in all sporting events, the members were able to direct officials, keep score, inform visitors, generate spirit, and all in all keep the events running smoothly. Easily identified by their green and gold outfits, the girls formed a colorful and spirited cheerblock for the basketball season. Under the supervision of an enthusiastic sponsor, Mrs. Hibschman, the Sports Club sponsored a chili supper and sold booster buttons for the 1972 basketball sectional.

As the 1972 sectional grew near, the members paint the windows with various slogans and artistic designs to show their backing of the Warriors.

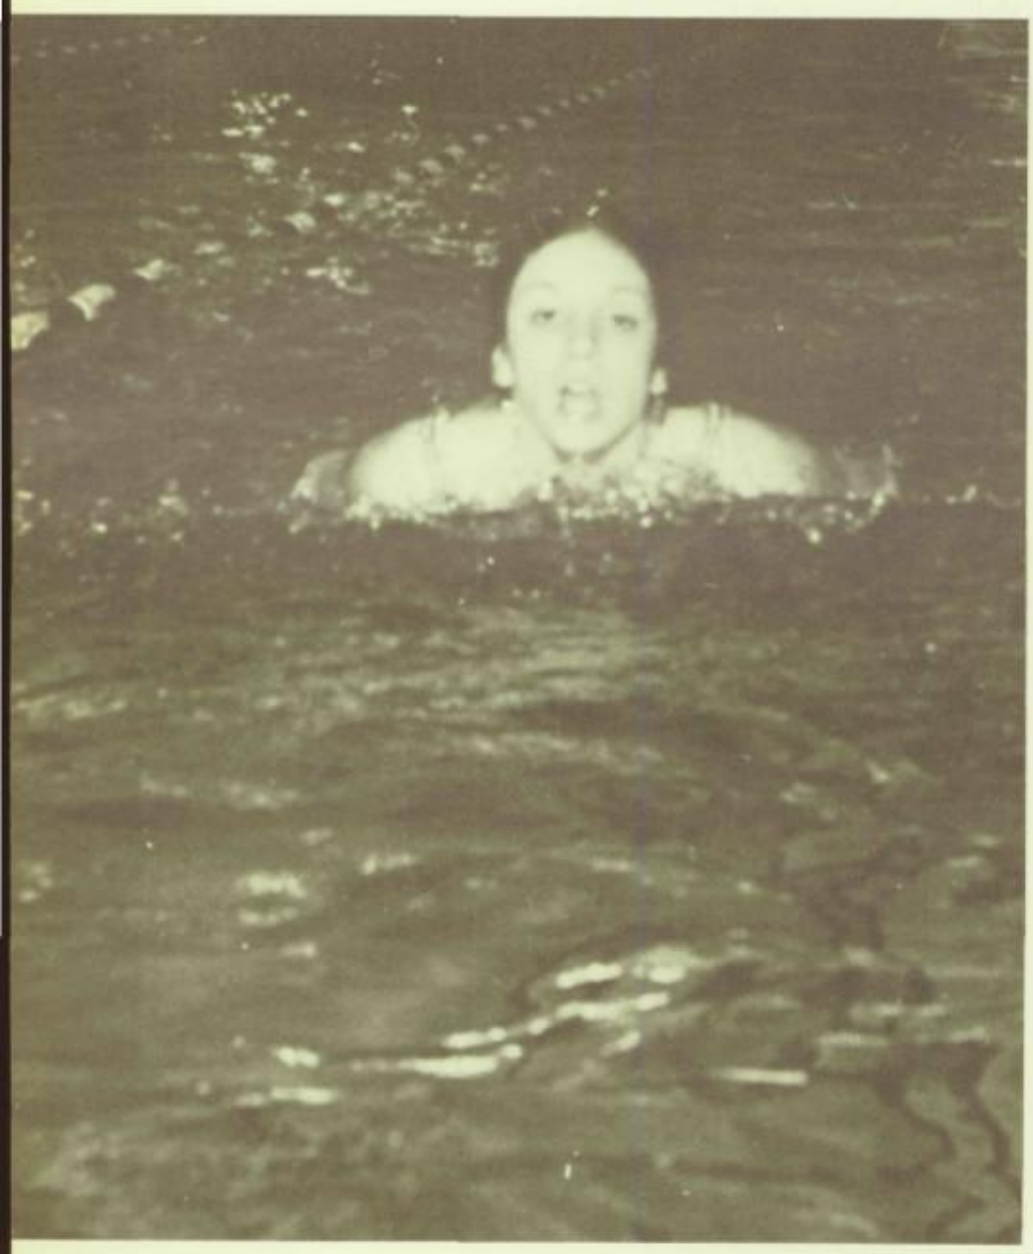
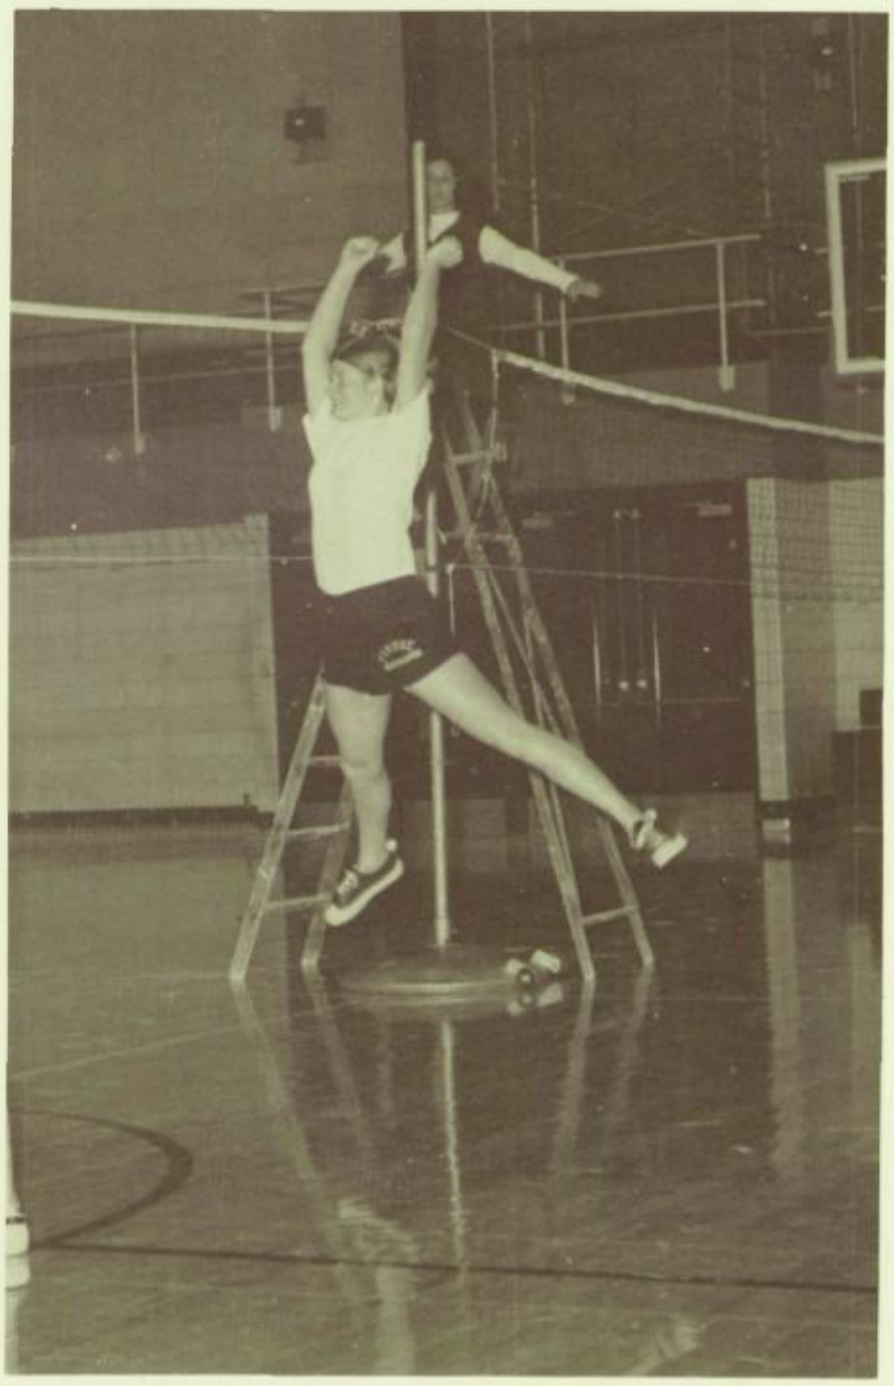
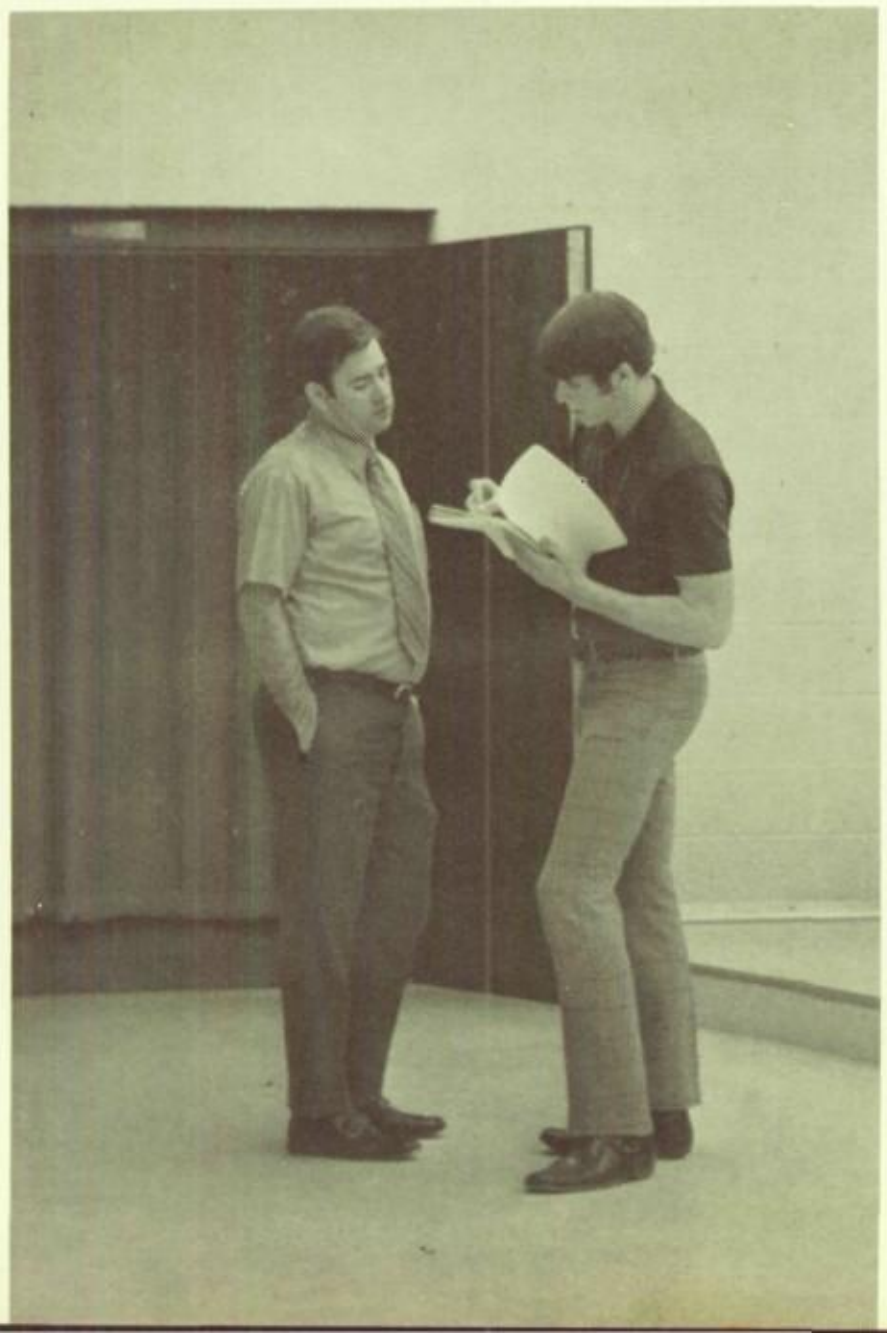
Joni Caple displays her cheerleading ability as the Warriorettes score another point in one of their volleyball games.





Tom Fribley, president of Lettermen's, dumps the cinders out of his spikes as the completion of another successful race.

lettermen: leaders in warrior sports



The Lettermen's Club consisted of any boy who earned a varsity letter in one or more sports. The Club entered a float in the Homecoming parade; although no awards were won it was a great way to unite the boys for the upcoming year. Under the leadership of Tom Fribley the club planned two activities. On March 25th, the club used the pool and gym area and participated in a night of intramural sports. The following day the boys traveled to Indianapolis to see an Indiana Pacer game.

girl's athletics: a step forward

The feminine segment of WHS emerged this year for the first time to form five spirited competitive teams.

Coach Baumgartner's volleyball girls tallied an impressive 5-4 record for their first season. Lead by several enthusiastic seniors, the volleyball team proved that the girls from WHS are true competitors.

WHS gymnasts presented several outstanding performances throughout their season. Coach Carpenter trained her girls to score well enough on the beam, unevens, and in vaulting and free exercise to talley enough points to establish a 4-2 record and place second in the district meet.

A spirited group trained with Coach Peterson to form a basketball team. The girls tried unsuccessfully all year to record a victory. The team remained optomistic however, and anxiously awaits next year's season.

Mrs. Peterson also worked with the swim team. Competing against South Bend Schools, Goshen, and Elkhart teams, the girls failed to chalk up a win. The team made encouraging progress in all events.

Coach Carpenter's track team proved to one of the most successful girls' teams. The girls compiled an outstanding 9-0 record. The district meet was held on the Warrior track, and due to the combined efforts of timers, starters, recorders, coaches, and teams, the meet was an exciting competitive experience for all.

the building is nearly complete

both for us as students and the school as a structure

but we are not finished

w.h.s. will change and grow

each year

and we will change

and as we grow

the memories we save of wawasee

will seem to us a legend
